DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A young man who once tried to renounce his country is charged with firing the two bullets that killed President Kennedy.

"No, I didn't kill the President," Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, said after he was charged Friday night with murder in the President's assassination.

Oswald swore allegiance to the Soviet Union four years ago and tried to renounce his American citizenship. He said he is now a member of "Fair Play for Cuba." Police termed him arrogant.

Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry said today Oswald has "readily admitted he is a Communist."

Curry said Oswald admitted to officers in questioning Friday night that he was "a member of the Communist party."

The police chief said, "apparently he was proud of being a Communist. He didn't try to hide it."

Curry said he did not know whether Oswald was a card-carrying member of the party.

President Kennedy died 30 minutes after the assassin's bullets crashed into his neck and head as he neared the end of a triumphal motorcade Friday.

A third bullet wounded Texas Gov. John Connally. His condition was reported not critical.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas was asked if authorities were looking for anyone else in connection with the world-stunning murder.

Denies Firing Two Fatal Bullets

"There is no one else but him," Wade said.

Taken before microphones and cameras early today, Oswald managed an occasional smile as he insisted in a low voice that he was innocent of Kennedy's death.

Oswald had been taken into custody soon after Kennedy was fatally shot and Gov. Connally wounded in the back by three volleys fired from a high-powered rifle.

Kennedy and Connally had been riding side by side in the presidential limousine, their wives sitting just ahead of them.

The key factor that led to Oswald's arrest at 2 p.m. Friday — an hour after the President's death — was the apparently senseless killing of a Dallas policeman.

Authorities said a clear trail led to Oswald and he was charged earlier with murder in the death of the officer.

If the massive manhunt for the 46-year-old president's assassin was ended, the investigation by city police and agents of the FBI and Secret Service continued.

Wade said the case could come to trial within three weeks, or could be delayed for as long as two months.

A trail of strange circumstances led authorities to bear down on Oswald as the prime suspect in the killing:

— Oswald worked in a textbook warehouse which police pinpointed as the place from which a high-powered rifle with a telescope sight was aimed at the head of the chief executive as he drove past in his open limousine.

Police said Oswald was in the building at the time.

—Within 45 minutes after Friday's assassination, and almost at the moment Kennedy's heartbeat stopped, a policeman who tried to pick up Oswald as a suspicious person four miles from the warehouse was shot to death.

Police said the bullet that killed the officer came from a pistol fired by Oswald, who was charged with murder.

—Mrs. Oswald, mother of a 2-month-old child, was quoted by Wade as reporting her husband had in his possession as recently as Thursday night a rifle matching in description the one used by the assassin.

—The personal history of Oswald was in character with the misfit backgrounds of past presidential assassins, who were lunatics, anarchists or political fanatics of one kind or another.

Police said that Oswald, during his first 10 hours of questioning, was arrogant and defiant. They promised him a night's sleep in the city jail before grilling him anew.

Wade told newsmen that Dallas authorities had no prior cause to take note of his activities.

A massive hunt for Kennedy's assassin began almost before the echo of the tragic, history-altering shots had died away.

The bullets sent Kennedy slumping forward, unconscious, at about 12:30 p.m., CST. At 1 p.m., the President was dead in an emergency room at Dallas Parkland Hospital. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson automatically assumed the powers of president.

Kennedy apparently had no chance.

"We never expected to save his life," said one doctor. "He was too grievously wounded. We just did what we could."

'Will Do My Best, I Ask Your Help, God's'

New President Gathers Up Problems Of Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asking God's help, Lyndon B. Johnson gathered up the monumental problems of the presidency today as the world, the nation and his family mourned John F. Kennedy, dead by an assassin's bullets.

"I will do my best—that's all I can do. I ask for your help and God's," said the new President, numb and haggard, after accompanying the slain chief executive's body back to Washington from Dallas.

A few hours after the slaying, Dallas police charged a 24-year-old man who professed love for Russia with murder and said he was the assassin. He was identified as Lee Harvey Oswald.

As arrangements were made for family, friends and dignitaries to view Kennedy's body at the White House today, Johnson set about getting advice on the troubles that abruptly were thrust into his hands.

He set up morning conferences with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who not many years ago listened to advice from Johnson.

City Stunned By Tragedy

Party Lines Forgotten In Kennedy's Death

Disbelief, shock, grief then a feeling of revulsion — that was East Liverpool's collective reaction as news spread of the assassination of President Kennedy.

And the tragedy continued the principal topic today in restaurants, taverns and other public businesses where persons gathered — along with the unanswered question: "Why?"

THE CITY hadn't reached such a high emotional pitch since the "D-Days" of World War II—then it was exultation and gladness, this time sorrow and sadness.

Cash registers quit jangling in many downtown stores as the word of the shocking tragedy spread Friday afternoon. Clerks seemed stunned and shoppers appeared bewildered.

In one store, the checkout girl had a transistor radio blaring at her side — and all patrons gathered around the counter, downcast and silent as the terrible story unfolded.

A SMALL CROWD continued to grow then fadeaway to be replaced by others at a loudspeaker on the Diamond. Two elderly ladies listened briefly, dabbed at their eyes with their handkerchiefs then trudged away.

There were few smiles on shoppers' faces, men appeared grim and the normal bustle of a downtown afternoon was stilled.

As word flashed of the President's death, flags throughout the city were lowered to half mast, including those in the Diamond and at City Hall, Central Fire Station and East Liverpool High School.

Numerous meetings were canceled, several events were postponed and sports events were called off. All television entertainment programs were canceled, many through Monday.

Students at East Liverpool and Beaver Local heard history in the making when school officials connected radios to public address systems so students could hear a direct account of the events before and after the assassination.

A few school systems decided to close Monday, the day of the funeral.

Heddleston's Funeral To Be Held Monday

Retired Grocer And Ex-Postmaster Dies From Long Illness

Russell C. Heddleston, a director of the First National Bank, former city postmaster and city councilman, past 18th District Republican state central committeeman and a grocer for 61 years until retirement, died Friday at 9 p.m. at his home, 134 W. 5th St. He was 85.

Mr. Heddleston had been in ill health for many months.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella Laughlin Heddleston; two daughters, Miss Sarah M. Heddleston and Mrs. Ruth H. Earl at home; a son, Russell A. Heddleston of Takoma Park, Md.; a sister, Mrs. James Roush of Lisbon, and a grandson, David Earl, at home.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by the Rev. A. K. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

Friends may call Sunday at the funeral home.

Mr. Heddleston was born Jan. 7, 1878, the son of William D. and Margaret Dorff Heddleston.

Mr. Heddleston became a driver for Frank Oyster, who operated a grocery at the foot of Broadway. He later became a clerk in the store where he was employed for nearly nine years.

One of the oldest active grocers in the city, he and a brother, the late Lawrence Heddleston, founded the Heddleston Brothers grocery at the 4th and Market St. site in 1901. Another brother, the late J. O. Heddleston, later joined the business, which was liquidated last summer.

A lifelong Republican, Mr. Heddleston was appointed postmaster March 5, 1912, by President William Howard Taft, succeeding the late W. H. Surles. He held the office until March 6, 1916.

Remaining active in politics, he was Republican state central committeeman from the 18th District, which includes

Since virtually all regular television programs have been suspended out of respect for the late President John F. Kennedy, the daily log will not appear in today's Review. Regular programming is scheduled to be resumed next week.

23 Safe At Fitchville, Ohio

60 Trapped, Die As Fire Sweeps Home For Aged

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — About 60 persons were trapped and killed in a fire today at a nursing home for the aged and infirm at Fitchville, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The blaze swept through the one-story concrete home in the pre-dawn hours.

Eighty-four patients were reported residing at the home when the fire broke out.

Twenty-one patients and three nurses were safely accounted for at Fisher-Titus Hospital in Norwalk.

The home housed mostly elderly persons, but also some younger mental and infirm patients.

The home burned to the ground. Only the front door remained standing with the name clearly seen: "Golden Age Nursing Home."

Firemen were able to remove only those able to walk. The heat drove them back from any rescue attempts.

A funeral home director Richard Eastman, said many persons were trapped in their beds.

The first word of the fire came to the sheriff's office at 5

President's Funeral Rites To Be Monday

Family, Officials View Body; It Will Lie In State Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy lies in death today in the White House from which he governed the nation.

Through the day, his family, his close friends and high officials of the government, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, were scheduled to view the body of the chief executive who was assassinated Friday in Dallas.

Sunday it will be borne by solemn cortege to the rotunda of the Capitol where for 24 hours it will lie in state, to be seen by the public.

Funeral services will be held at noon Monday at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral with Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family, celebrating a Pontifical Requiem Mass.

The final resting place for the President, 46, gunned down as he rode in a motorcade, remained uncertain early today.

In the early morning hours, the flag-draped casket of the fallen President was brought to the White House.

A Navy ambulance carried the casket from the Bethesda Naval Hospital, in suburban Maryland, where the body had been taken upon its return from Dallas.

From 10 to 11 a.m., Kennedy's immediate family was to view the body in the East Room of the White House.

From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., the top officials of the government, led by President Johnson and including Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Chief Justice Earl Warren, were scheduled to arrive.

Eisenhower also was due to come at that time. Former

Rhodes Sets Monday As Day Of Mourning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has proclaimed Monday as a day of mourning in Ohio, dedicated to the memory of President Kennedy.

The governor also ordered all state offices closed for the day. He is expected to issue a proclamation Monday for a 30-day period of mourning, office aides said.

Due to the death of President Kennedy all social activities are suspended at the Elks Club for tonight—Adv.

World Mourns President

Messages Of Condolence Pour Into White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tragic flash from Dallas reverberated around the world like a clap of thunder: The young vigorous President of the United States was dead at the hands of an assassin, and everywhere the great and the lowly mourned John F. Kennedy's passing.

The deadening shock gave way to tears and then to universal heartache for Jacqueline Kennedy and her two young children. Rich and poor, black and white, shuddered and were bewildered.

Messages of condolence poured into the White House from presidents, premiers and crowned heads. Churches filled with people came to pray and sob.

"This is a sad time for all people," the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, told the nation on his return to Washington. "We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed."

During the early morning hours in Moscow, Premier

Khrushchev dressed in black, drove to the U.S. Embassy to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of the President. Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, sent telegrams of condolences to Mrs. Kennedy.

In New Haven, Conn., a citizen said with a catch in his voice: "I felt as if he was my brother. But he was more than that — he was our President."

Washington was struck as if by a bombshell. The government stopped dead in its tracks.

Crowds gathered outside the iron picket fence in front of the White House, staring silently at the President's home long after night fell. Telephone service was paralyzed for a time and flags — foreign banners at embassies as well as the Stars and Stripes — were lowered to half staff.

Pubs in London and cafes in Paris fell silent. In Moscow a Russian girl walked weeping along the street. In Vatican City

Pope Paul VI prayed for the soul of the dead President.

Scars of past political strife were forgotten as old foes joined with old allies and the three living former presidents in a unity of grief.

Richard M. Nixon, who lost the presidency to Kennedy in 1960 in a razor-thin race, said in New York: "The assassination of the President is a terrible tragedy for the nation. Mrs. Nixon and I have sent a personal message expressing our deepest sympathy to the members of the family in this hour of sorrow."

Another old political opponent, Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, considered by many the front-runner in the race for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, learned of Kennedy's death at a Chicago airport and telephoned his Washington office: "The President's death is a profound loss to the nation and the free world."

rounds all presidents but party lines were forgotten in Columbiana County as Democrat and Republican leaders expressed shock then recalled visits of the deceased President and his successor — Lyndon Johnson, who had appeared in campaign rallies in this area in the past three years.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, contacted this morning at the Capitol, said in a weary voice he had no statement ready to make at the present.

The 18th District Congressman said he had driven all night to reach the Capitol where he said everyone seemed in "a state of shock."

A secretary at Hays' office earlier commented "utter confusion reigns" at the House building.

Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman, was in Columbus and could not be reached. Both he and Hays are well acquainted with President Johnson.

WALTER HUNSTON of East Palestine, president of the Columbiana County commissioners, said, "We are shocked by the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, and extend our heartfelt sympathy to his family."

Offices in the Courthouse at Lisbon will be closed Monday in respect to the late President.

Juvenile Court also will be closed all day Monday. Court officials said all appointments scheduled Monday have been postponed. Those with appointments will be notified by mail of the new hearing time.

Atty. Charles Pike of Lisbon, county Republican chairman, expressed sorrow. He said:

"It is difficult to express the great sorrow that a person feels at this type of tragedy. Everyone thinks of the loss to the family of the President as well as to the nation. And an assassination causes us to lose in stature in the eyes of the world."

Commenting on the chief executive's death, Dick Wright of Route 30 Chester, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Hancock County, said "I was shocked. I knew him pretty well and had worked with him in West Virginia. I didn't believe it at first."

Wright first met Mr. Kennedy at the home of Judge Ralph E. Pryor of Wellsburg in the 1960 West Virginia presidential primary campaign. Judge Pryor, who attended Harvard University, was Mr. Kennedy's campaign manager in the Northern District.

Wright, who expressed sympathy for the Kennedy family, and Judge Pryor were among a crowd of 1,020 who heard the President speak briefly in 1960 in Weirton.

MR. KENNEDY was a Massachusetts senator then, stumping in West Virginia for the primary. He spoke about six minutes before the largest crowd ever to gather in the Weirton Community Center, later turning over the speaking duties to a brother because of a hoarse voice. The Kennedy reception was sponsored by the Weirtonian Lodge.

Mike Sinicropi of Weirton, who sat beside the President at the event, said Mr. Kennedy leaned over and asked, "What kind of a speech do you expect from me?" Sinicropi said he asked Mr. Kennedy to make a non-political speech because the lodge was non-partisan. Mr. Kennedy complied, and mentioned immigration laws, promising to improve them if he was elected president, the Weirton man said.

AREA MINISTERS re-arranged their services for Sunday to include an expression of sympathy for the President's family and prayers for his successor and for the nation.

A Solemn Requiem Mass was observed this morning at St. Aloysius Catholic Church with Fr. Carl Nicolay the celebrant.

He expressed shock, terming it "a disaster for the country."

A Requiem Mass will be said Monday at 11:15 a.m. at the Immaculate Conception Church in Wellsville with Fr. Gerald X. Curran the celebrant.

A Solemn Requiem Mass will be celebrated Monday at 9 a.m. at St. Aloysius in memory of the late president.

A special Presidential Memorial prayer service will be held tonight from 7:30 to 8 at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church in Wellsville, according to the Rev. Bruce Davis, minister.

THE REV. M. Rudolph Miller, pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, said he will change his Thanksgiving sermon for the morning service Sunday to a memorial sermon in honor of President Kennedy.

At the First Baptist Church Sunday morning, Rev. John L. Clark will also conduct a period of prayer for the President and for the country.

The Rev. Albert Rodenhuisen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will also conduct memorial services Sunday at the 10:40 a.m. worship.

THE NATIONAL Association for the Advancement of Colored People believes Negro people have made their greatest advance in the movement for racial equality under President Kennedy and the East Liverpool Branch will include a memorial service to him in its anniversary program to be held Thursday night.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet today proclaimed a period of official mourning in East Liverpool as he led the city in expressing shocked disbelief and grief at the assassination.

FLAGS ON city property, were lowered to half-staff shortly after word of the President's death was received and The National Emblem flew throughout the night in its expression of mourning.

All City Hall offices were closed today as part of the community's mourning.

"We have lost a wonderful President and a great leader to a martyr's death," Mayor Goodballet said. "I know all East Liverpool joins me in expressing our grief to the Kennedy family."

"President Kennedy's dynamic leadership and unflinching courage will be missed sorely," the mayor said. "He was a hero in war, a great leader in peace and one of the most dynamic figures ever to occupy the White House."

THE MAYOR said the city's official mourning will continue until after the President's funeral Monday.

Municipal Court will be closed all day Monday, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff said today.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Columbiana County Board of Elections, said the board's offices will be closed Monday out of respect to the President. The recount scheduled Monday at 2 p.m. on the Columbiana Exempted School District's 3-mill levy will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m., he said.

WELLSVILLE City Hall will be closed all day Monday, according to Mayor William Daugherty.

The mayor asked that during the time of funeral services for the late President, that all merchants close their businesses. "This is only befitting in respect for the President," he said.

The Hancock County Courthouse offices will be closed all day Monday, and although some offices will be open Tuesday, there will be no Court sessions officials announced.

St. Aloysius Parochial School will be closed Monday and Wellsville schools also will suspend classes, according to Supt. Lowell Myers.

Supt. Robert Hall said Hancock County schools, including the Adult Education program, will be closed Monday and the Board of Education meeting Monday night has been canceled. The board's office also will be closed.

Classes will resume at the regular time Tuesday.

He said the closing order followed the decision of Gov. Barron and the West Virginia Board of Public Works out of respect to Mr. Kennedy.

All others apparently will be open as usual, unless the Ohio Education Department declares a period of mourning meanwhile.

AMONG THOSE who wept yesterday at the news of President Kennedy's death was 9-year-old Vicki Parsons of the North Side, who only this week received from the White House a thank-you note for a picture and poem she had sent to the First Family about three weeks ago.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parsons, 1122 Perry Ave., Vicki had drawn the picture of the Kennedy family and composed a four-line poem while home ill from school one day.

The blue-eyed fourth grader at Lincoln School received from Mrs. Kennedy's social secretary a letter of appreciation for the picture and poem, along with a photograph of the Kennedys and their children.

Today, Mrs. Parsons said, the White House note is tear-stained.

The Ladies JFK Club today was to send a letter of sympathy to The White House, Mrs. Helen McCune, 110 E. Drury Ln., president, said, adding the organization — formed in 1961 — "extended its deepest sympathy to the nation." Its initials are those of the President.

The death also aroused concern in England and a former Irondale pastor now in Westmoreland County, England, cabled condolences.

A. L. Wardeski, lay reader of the Irondale Methodist Church, received a cablegram from Dr. W. J. Smart at Milnthorpe, reading: "Sympathy to all." Dr. Smart was pastor of the Irondale church in 1959-62 and returned briefly last year during a lecture tour.

THE NEW President was entertained at the home of two East Liverpool men prior to adressing Democratic rallies at Beaver Local High School.

As Vice President, Mr. Johnson was entertained at a private dinner at the home of Municipal Judge and Mrs. Samuel M. Chertoff on Midway Ln. just two months ago before addressing a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Following the speech, Judge Chertoff accompanied the vice president to Pittsburgh and remained overnight with him.

A framed personal letter from Mr. Johnson expressing his appreciation for the hospitality of Judge and Mrs. Chertoff hangs in the judge's chambers in Municipal Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Beaty entertained Mr. Johnson, then Senate majority leader, at a party in 1960 just prior to the Democratic national convention.

Sen. Johnson then went to Beaver Local for a speech in which he dropped a broad hint that he would seek the Presidential nomination.

President Herbert Hoover, 89 and ailing, expressed regrets he would be unable to attend. Former President Harry S. Truman is expected in Washington Sunday.

Cabinet members, officials of the executive branch appointed by the President and close personal friends were to view the body from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

From 2 to 2:30 p.m., associate justices of the Supreme Court and members of the federal judiciary were scheduled to call. From 2:30 to 5 p.m. members of Congress and governors were expected, followed by the diplomatic corps from 5 to 6 p.m.

Sunday at 1 p.m., members of the family, Supreme Court Justices, members of Congress and foreign diplomats will accompany President Kennedy's body as it moves from the White House down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol.

The public will be permitted to file past the bier in the great rotunda of the Capitol shortly after its arrival until 9 p.m. Sunday, and again from 9 until 10 a.m. Monday.

At 11 a.m., Monday, the body will be taken to the cathedral for the funeral services.

Governor Of Texas Reported Satisfactory

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John B. Connally was reported in satisfactory condition today after undergoing surgery for a bullet wound in his chest.

Connally was shot as he sat in the same open car as President Kennedy Friday in a motorcade through Dallas. A sniper's bullet killed Kennedy.

Connally underwent surgery for more than one hour. After awakening, he asked: "How's Nellie?" referring to his wife. He then asked: "How are the kids?" and went back to sleep.

Dr. Robert Shaw, his attending physician, described the governor as "mentally alert, his condition satisfactory and stable."

"I do not anticipate his getting worse," Shaw said.

Shaw said Connally had not been told of Kennedy's death.

Mrs. Connally, looking tired from the ordeal, was kept from visitors and newsmen. Only close relatives visited Mrs. Connally. Her oldest son, John B. III, 16, came from Austin to be with her. The other children, Sharon, 13, and Mark, 10, stayed in Austin.

Secret Service agents talked briefly with Mrs. Connally in an attempt to reconstruct the crime.

Shaw said the bullet apparently struck Connally in the back, went through his chest into his wrist and embedded in his thigh.

The bullet broke part of a rib into fragments and caused considerable tissue damage, Shaw said.

Connally will be in the hospital 10 to 14 days.

Connally served as the first secretary of Navy after Kennedy became President. He resigned the office in 1961 to run for governor of Texas.

Shaw said he expects Connally to have no disability from the gunshot wound and that he should recover completely.

Deaths and Funerals Nurse's Aide Claimed At 60

Mrs. Gladys A. Connell, 108 W. 3rd St., widow of John Earl Connell, and a nurse's aide at City Hospital for eight years, was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital this morning at 9:15. She was taken ill earlier at home. She was 60.

Mrs. Connell was born in Empire Dec. 24, 1902, to the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hancock, and resided in this vicinity virtually her lifetime. She worked last on Thursday.

She is survived by two sons, Jack Connell of East Liverpool and Robert Connell of Alliance; a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Thomas, and two brothers, Tracy Hancock and Earl Hancock, all of East Liverpool; a sister, Mrs. Florence Green at home and seven grandchildren. Her husband died in 1956.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Ben Godwin

Mrs. Emma Godwin, 69, wife of Ben Godwin of Weir Ave., Weirton, and sister of Norman Haught of Wellsville, died Friday night at 11:15 at Weirton General Hospital, where she had been a patient two days with a heart condition.

Mrs. Godwin was born in Fairview, W. Va., and had resided in Weirton over 50 years. Besides her husband and brother, she is survived by another brother, Brady Haught of Port Homer.

Services will be held Monday afternoon at the Schwerha Funeral Home in Weirton. Burial will be in the New Cumberland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

William Rhuark

The Rev. Robert Andrews, pastor of the Wellsville First Christian Church, will conduct services for William James Rhuark, 1605 Chester Ave., Wellsville, this afternoon at the Haugh Funeral Home, Wellsville. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Mr. Rhuark died Thursday at City Hospital.

Mrs. Jennie Deaves

Graveside services for Mrs. Jennie Roberts Deaves, 87, formerly of Salineville, will be held Sunday afternoon at Woodland Cemetery, Salineville.

Widow of Emory Deaves, a Salineville druggist for a number of years, she died Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Carothers, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. She was the daughter of Benjamin Roberts and Martha Roberts of Salineville.

She leaves another daughter, Mrs. Helen Burke of Pittsburgh, and a brother, Clyde Roberts of Rayland.

Juanita Taubert

Juanita Faye Taubert, 3, daughter of Heinz Taubert and Julia Virden Taubert, 625 Owens Rd., died this morning about 5 at City Hospital after an illness of three weeks.

She was born here Dec. 8, 1959.

He also served as chairman of the county GOP finance committee and as county representative of the state and national committees.

He was a member of the Republican national committee from Ohio.

A friend of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, Mr. Heddleston was active in his political campaigns.

Mr. Heddleston attended 10 national GOP conventions, serving as delegate in 1916 and in 1952 when he supported Sen. Taft. He also was a delegate to 18 sessions of the Republican state convention.

He served in City Council at the age of 21 and was a Republican precinct committeeman in the Third Ward. He remained a member of the GOP county central committee.

After leaving the Post Office, he became a special representative of the New York Life Insurance Co. and continued his interest in the grocery.

One of the organizers and a charter member of the Kiwanis Club, Mr. Heddleston maintained a perfect attendance record until his illness. A life director, his nearest miss came when he was injured several years ago in an auto accident, but the club's Board of Directors held meetings at his home to preserve the attendance record.

Elected lieutenant governor of the Ohio Kiwanis organization in 1922, Mr. Heddleston was credited with organizing 13 new clubs that year.

He later was elected governor of the Ohio Kiwanis District and is a former trustee of Kiwanis International.

Mr. Heddleston had been a member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank since Jan. 11, 1934, and missed only a few of the weekly meetings. He also served as a director of the Citizens National Bank until it consolidated with First National in January 1926.

During World War I, Mr. Heddleston served as one of the

Kennedy

crowded into the emergency room and gave the President blood transfusions and oxygen. The frantic but vain efforts of the medical experts also included heart massage and surgery to cut a hole in Kennedy's windpipe — with the hope of easing his labored breathing.

Police were certain that the assassin's shots were fired from the fifth floor of the Texas School Depository, an aging brick building on the western fringe of the business district where a private firm stores, buys and sells school textbooks. The bullets traveled about 100 yards at a 45-degree angle.

James W. Altgens, Associated Press photographer, said the President's head soon was bathed in blood.

As the dying President slumped forward, his wife, Jacqueline, reached for her husband, uttering a desperate and pathetic, "Oh, no!"

A Secret Service agent threw himself, spread-eagled, over the rear seat of the big blue car — protecting with his body the two wounded men.

The motorcade stopped momentarily. Then William Greer, Kennedy's Secret Service driver, strapped on the accelerator and whipped the car forward — to get out of range of the gunman and to race for Parkland Hospital.

Kennedy never regained consciousness. Two priests were hastily summoned to give the last rites to the nation's first Roman Catholic president.

At about the time Kennedy died, policeman J. D. Tippett shot fatally in Oak Cliff, some four miles from where the President had been fatally wounded.

Minutes later, police were tipped a suspicious-looking man had been seen entering the Texas Theater and a squad of police quickly surrounded the little movie house.

They brought Oswald out after a fight and he was charged, hours later, with Tippett's slaying. An eyewitness told police Oswald shot Tippett, who had apparently stopped the dishonorably discharged ex-Marine for questioning. No one knows what caused the officer to want to question Oswald.

On the fifth floor of the school depository where Oswald worked, police found a foreign-made rifle with telescopic sight, partly hidden behind a stack of books. Spent cartridges and scraps of fried chicken were scattered about.

Most people who heard the fatal shots thought they sounded like giant firecrackers. Only when Kennedy and Connally slumped in their seats and Mrs. Kennedy cried out did they realize they had been witnesses to a tragic piece of history.

At that point, some who had been watching the progress of the presidential motorcade threw themselves to the ground, face down, to seek protection from further gunfire.

The shots came as the Kennedys and the Connallys drove out of the business district where massed thousands, standing 10 and 12 deep along the curbs, had cheered.

As the limousine approached a triple underpass, heading for a new expressway that was to lead Kennedy to a luncheon speaking date, the wife of the Texas governor turned to him and remarked:

"You can't say Dallas isn't friendly today."

He was shot before he could reply.

Mrs. Connally's comment was based on the fact that Dallas has voted Republican in recent years and has become widely regarded as a center of conservative thought.

School Closing Set

SALEM — West Branch School District will be closed Monday in respect to the late President Kennedy, school officials announced.

Girl Injured In Auto Upset

A 17-year-old LaCroft teenager was hospitalized and her East End girl friend apparently escaped injury when their station wagon overturned Friday night on W. 8th St., police reported.

Dale Coulter, daughter of Jack Coulter of Lisbon St., was in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with an injury of the left arm.

Doris Harker, 17, daughter of Ralph Harker, 2038 Michigan Ave., driver of the car, was examined at the hospital and released after the mishap at 9:43 p. m.

Miss Harker told police she was heading east near Edwards Ave. about 30-35 miles an hour when she lost control and the vehicle overturned.

A 17-year-old mother and her 2-month-old daughter escaped injury in another mishap 25 minutes earlier on Smithfield St.

Mrs. Karen Brereton, 1020 Riverview St., told officers she was headed south on Smithfield St. at 9:19 p. m. when she glanced at her baby on the front seat.

When she looked back at the road, it was too late to avoid a collision with the parked 1958 two-door of Ernest Eardley, 1602 Smithfield St.

Police said the front end of Mrs. Brereton's auto, owned by her mother, Mrs. Irene Early, 1830 Riverview St., was damaged.

Trio Fined In Boat Club

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mildard F. Riggs, 57, a licensee of the Fort Steuben Yacht Club, and Otto Naff, 52, and Sally Smith, 25, both of Steubenville and employees, were fined $50 and costs each, by Squire John D. Herron, Friday, on charges of selling beer after hours. All entered pleas of no defense.

The trio was arrested Sunday when Hancock County sheriff's deputies raided the boat anchored off-shore across from New Cumberland apparently outside of jurisdiction of both Ohio and West Virginia. Deputies went aboard in plain clothes and purchased beer.

Hancock and Jefferson County authorities were puzzled over which had jurisdiction although all the river to the low-water mark on the Ohio shore is considered West Virginia's.

In reference to that point, Herron said, "It is my opinion that for the service of civil and criminal processes, it has been repeatedly decided in the courts that jurisdiction of Ohio is concurrent over the waters and within the banks, without reference to high or low water marks, meaning jurisdiction of two powers over one and the same, which ever state that has the defendant in custody has jurisdiction to try."

Winter's Return Due With Flurries Of Snow

Winter is scheduled to stage a comeback this weekend after nearly a week of unseasonable temperatures in the mid-60's.

The Ohio weatherman said the mercury will drop to a sub-freezing range of 24 to 30 tonight and that the cold snap will continue Sunday with snow flurries persisting.

The mercury will start tumbling this afternoon into the 30's with scattered showers changing to snow flurries. There may be snow squalls tonight. The downtown had a mild 56 at 7 a. m. after a night of windy rain showers.

Kennedy Family Asks No Flowers Be Sent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The family of John F. Kennedy has asked that no flowers be sent for his services or to the White House.

An announcement issued by the White House Friday night said the family "asked that anyone wishing to do so donate an equivalent amount to charity."

Johnson

then leader of the Democratic opposition in the Senate—some say the most able leader the Senate ever had.

Almost as soon as he arrived back in Washington Friday night, the 55-year-old Texan with a reputation as a tough political genius plunged into a meeting of congressional leaders of both parties where he asked for and got pledges of support in his days of trial ahead.

Johnson, who fought a losing fight against Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, automatically became the 36th President of the United States the moment Kennedy's life ebbed away in the emergency room of a Dallas hospital.

Johnson was in the car behind Kennedy's when three bullets from a sniper ripped into the open presidential limousine, striking Kennedy in the head and throat and wounding Texas Gov. John Connally.

Blood sprang from the President's face and he fell forward in the back seat of the car. Mrs. Kennedy, who had been riding with him, tried to lift his head, crying, "Oh, no!"

Half an hour later John F. Kennedy, 46, the first Roman Catholic and youngest man ever elected to the presidency, was dead.

It was stunning, almost unbelievable news that flashed around the country and to the far reaches of the world.

Expressions of grief, sorrow, surprise poured in from friends and antagonists, allies and foes, from the Kremlin and from the Vatican.

For Johnson, the problems were just beginning.

By moving into the White House he also assumes leadership of the West in the cold war — and faces the major question of whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev will stir up a new crisis to test the mettle of the new American chief executive.

Judging from Johnson's public statements, no big change in foreign policy appeared likely, for he has strongly supported the Kennedy line.

Another problem is Congress where Kennedy's legislative program—the tax reduction bill and civil rights legislation—is stalled apparently for the rest of the year.

Johnson won his fame, however, by whipping and cajoling senators toward his way of thinking.

But the consensus on Capitol Hill is that there will be no more battles in the halls of Congress this year.

Already worn and with tempers frayed after 11 months of its first session, Congress is expected to close shop soon and go home until the next session in January.

Also coming soon was a decision whether Johnson would campaign to try to win the presidency in his own right in 1964.

Even as the troubles of the world and the country whirled on, the nation lowered its flags to half staff in mourning for its young President with the Harvard accent whose watchword became "vigor."

Today, Kennedy's body was to lie in repose in the East Room of the White House as dignitaries—Eisenhower among them—file by.

Sunday his body will be carried in a somber cortege up the route of presidents and heroes — Pennsylvania Avenue—to the Capitol where he will lie in state until Monday morning beneath the towering dome of the Capitol.

Then it will be taken to St. Matthews Roman Catholic Cathedral, a few blocks from the White House, where Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, will celebrate a Pontifical Requiem Mass at noon.

Another former President, Harry S. Truman, will come to Washington Sunday to pay homage to Kennedy and his respects to the new chief executive.

Burial plans were uncertain. There were unconfirmed reports Kennedy would be buried where his infant son Patrick was interred just a few weeks ago in a family plot in a Brookline, Mass., cemetery. Arlington National Cemetery was another possibility.

There was no word whether the late President's two children, Caroline and John Jr., had been told of their father's death. Both have birthdays this month — Caroline turning 6 and John 3.

Mrs. Kennedy was at her husband's side from the moment he was shot until she returned with his body to the White House at 4:30 a. m.

After the plane returned them to the capital, she rode the ambulance that carried Kennedy's body to Bethesda Naval Hospital where he was prepared for burial.

And then, after a Marine Guard had slowly paced the way up the drive, she followed the bronze casket as it was carried into the executive mansion. She was still wearing the pink suit with the blood from his wounds.

Also at the hospital were Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the late President's brother and chief adviser, and several close aides, said the assistant White House press secretary, Andrew Hatcher.

In Rome Pope Paul VI, who received the chief executive at an audience during his June visit to Italy, prayed for him.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzales, D-Tex., reported Mrs. Kennedy's last goodbye to her husband lying in Dallas' Parkland Hospital.

She gave her husband a final kiss, Gonzales said, and then slipped the ring from her finger and placed it on his.

Minutes later, Kennedy's bronze coffin was wheeled out of the hospital for the sad journey to Washington.

Aboard the plane before take-off, with Mrs. Kennedy and his wife at his side, Johnson took the oath of office from U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

Twenty-seven people, all there was room for, crowded into the gold-carpeted presidential compartment of the big jet for the two-minute ceremony.

At Andrews Air Force Base, just outside the capital, a military guard of honor came to attention as the jet with the big American flag on its tail touched down and taxied into the glare of lights.

The coffin was lowered on an elevator platform, then carried to a cream colored Navy ambulance.

Mrs. Kennedy, who came down the plane's steps with chin high, climbed in to accompany her husband's body on the ride to the hospital.

With two motorcycles riding escort, the ambulance sped away into the night.

Johnson, his wife at his side, then stepped off the plane. Looking wan and drawn, Johnson shook hands with government officials and congressional leaders, faced a battery of microphones and cameras, and asked the help of all Americans and God.

The big Army helicopter that had flown Kennedy so often now carried the new President to the White House.

Johnson held his wife's arm as they walked down the copter's ramp to the lawn.

He spoke briefly with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs, who rode in the helicopter with him.

a. m. from a truck driver who was driving near the home on U.S. 250. The driver, who was not identified, helped in removing some of the old age patients.

The home was described as an institution for ailing old persons.

Authorities feared they would not be able to recover any bodies from the blazing building. They were going over a floor plan of the home and set up a temporary morgue in the Fitchville High School gymnasium.

Fitchville is a community of about 200. It is 20 miles southeast of Norwalk, the county seat.

E. H. Woods of Cleveland, who is head of retirement hotels, said he built the home 10 years ago, but sold it two years ago to Robert Pollock of Cleveland.

"That home was supposed to be fireproof," Woods said. "I can't understand how it happened. Everything is concrete block. The doors are four feet thick."

Woods said the home was for persons who were infirm and many were mental patients discharged from state hospitals. He said the youngest patient was 38 and there were some as old as 100.

Top Order Given For Succession To Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the top order of succession to the presidency as established by law in 1947:

The vice president, a post now vacant with the elevation of Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency.

The speaker of the House of Representatives, now Democrat John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

The president pro tempore of the Senate, now Democratic Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona.

The secretary of state — Dean Rusk of New York.

The secretary of the treasury — Douglas Dillon of New Jersey.

Chester Woman Injured On Glass

A Chester area woman hurt on broken glass and a city man injured in a fall at work were among three area residents treated at City Hospital Friday and today.

Mrs. Marian Wright, 24, of Chester R. D. 1 suffered two cuts of the left foot when she stepped on broken glass. She was treated early this morning.

Fred Hicks, 47, of 856 St. George St., employee of the American Vittrified Products Co., received a laceration of the back of the head and bruises of the arm and legs in a fall of about 10 feet at work.

Paul Beegle, 24, of Hookstown R. D. 1 suffered a compound fracture of a finger of the right hand when caught in a grain elevator while at work at the Elliott farm.

We Will Need All Our Faith

President Kennedy has been destroyed at the peak of his potential power for good.
The world fell apart for all of us when those shots were fired in Dallas Friday.
This kind of violence is alien to America. We fight hard here, in a country that relishes the head-on personal collisions of football.
We talk tough and we play for keeps.
But we do not assassinate our leaders.
We leave that to the sick minds of those who link politics with violence and death.

WHEN IT HAPPENS to us, we are adrift. We lose our sense of direction and our sense of security.
Our world falls apart . . .
Somehow, we must put it back together. We must return to the routines that give us stability.
We must reorganize our views and our affairs.
We must rely on all the things we hoped would sustain us in a crisis if a crisis came.
We must amass all the faith we have and trust in the probability the total will see us through.
We have believed in this country that every crisis would find men to cope with it.
We believe the sovereign people can rise to every challenge, as they have done in every period of tension since the republic began.

WE MUST PUT the world back together, though our hearts are heavy.
Our sadness is first of all for ourselves because John F. Kennedy was our chief of state—the citizen chosen to represent all of us as president of the Republic.
But then our thoughts turn to his little son and daughter—to his lovely wife—to his mother, his father, his brothers and sisters.
We grieve for them.
It is as though we owed them an apology for this awful thing that has happened to John Kennedy while he was serving us. It is as though we the people should atone for the terrible thing that has been done.
There is no limit on our sympathy to the members of the Kennedy family. Its members are dedicated to public service. But no one foresaw the awful possibility that John Kennedy might be killed in the line of duty just as surely as his older brother Joseph Jr. died in the line of duty in World War II.
We mourn our President's death and for that part of us which was killed with him.

OUR NATION WILL carry on. We know this.
It is as damaging a blow as was struck in 1864 when Abraham Lincoln was killed by an assassin. And when William McKinley was assassinated in 1900. But government is better organized now. The people are more settled in their minds about the importance of government and the necessity of preserving order.
But the condition of the government has changed for the worse.
The accession of Vice President Johnson to the presidency may bring into play the dilemma former President Eisenhower tried to resolve, with no help from Congress.
President Eisenhower wanted it spelled out how the authority of a chief executive who was incapacitated could be delegated by a legally constituted commission. This was never done.
President Johnson, like former President Eisenhower, has had a heart attack. He presently seems to be in excellent health.
But the new vice president, House Speaker John W. McCormack, will be 72 years old on Dec. 21. The president pro tem of the U.S. Senate, Carl Hayden of Arizona, was 86 years old last Oct. 2.
The ebullience of youth, which has been the Kennedy administration's trademark, has been transformed by a rifle bullet into a miasma of uncertainty and advanced age.

OUR WORLD has fallen apart. We start to put it back together.
We are ashamed for what has happened, ashamed for something we cannot explain to people who look to the United States for a good example. Assassination is a crime against human decency.
We could not have done worse than this.
And now we must atone for a horrible misdeed. May each of us be adequate for the uncertainty that lies ahead.

A Dream Dies

WASHINGTON
The hidden gunman who assassinated President Kennedy killed an American dream.
It was no wonder people cried in the streets.
Many Americans disagreed with Kennedy, some on one issue, some on another.
But there were many sides to him and, because there were, he meant different things to different people.
Each could find in him some part of his own dream of what is good, or rewarding, or to be desired, or to be striven for in American life.
In total he was a symbol for many millions of people, representing an ideal as a man and as a President.
He was young, trim, vigorous, rich, good-looking, witty, highly intelligent and always informed.
And he was concerned about people.
He was a husband and father devoted to his wife and children, looking to a long and happy life ahead for all of them.

Slowly, Please

Whatever is going around this year is the same as what was going around last year—a THING about this long, with barbed-wire whiskers, 48 steel-tipped legs and a stinging tail that leaves a red welt on everything it touches.
The THING spits tobacco sauce when disturbed and its favorite haunt is the middle of the head, where it stomps around like a cat caught under the hood of an auto engine, its whiskers drawing blood at every twitch.
Meanwhile, its long tail is hanging down in the pit of the victim's stomach, squirming and writhing and driving the butterflies down there into nauseating flutters.
Noxious gases emitted from the THING's flared nostrils cause giddiness in the victim. Emanations from its scaly skin spread into the blood stream and cause aching in every joint.
INTRUSION of the foreign body into the cranial recesses of the victim cause swelling and irritation in the nasal membranes, not to mention what its barbed-wire whiskers do to the lining of the throat.
Dandruff loosened by its spasms and convulsions drifts down into the lungs like falling leaves and cause pneumonia.
Its puffings and screams fill the head with reverberating roars.

By James Marlow
In his chosen field, politics, he achieved supreme success at an early age.
As President, no matter how anyone differed with him on a particular issue, he was absolutely dedicated to the job the people gave him. None could deny him this. He worked day and night.
The greatest tribute to him was the effect the news of his sudden, violent death had on Americans from coast to coast.
There was grief, dismay, shock at the death of Kennedy, the human being.
One man after another—in a restaurant, at home, in the office, on the street—said he just wept at the news.
Anger, if any, seemed to have only a small part in the first emotional reaction, yet flaming anger would seem a natural reaction to the killing of a President.
That anger could be lost or drowned in mourning at the first news of Kenney's death was testimony that the people grieved for the death of the man first.
Anger may come later — it may engulf the nation — as the details of this assassination are revealed.

By Truman Twill
This is the same THING that was here last year and the year before.
The only thing different this year is the timing of its arrival. This is more illusion than fact, due to the difference in this year's weather.
The THING is not off schedule as far as the weather itself is off schedule. Last year by this time there had been snow; this year the snow is still being held in abeyance. But not the THING.
Its victims are keeling over like flies after a hard frost. They are snuffling and sniffing, moping around, tooting clogged noses, popping pills down their throats and turning green.
THAT'S the THING.
Medical science doesn't know what it is, but its victims do. The THING is nothing more mysterious than what is called the BENDS in deep sea divers.
It is what happens when the human body moves too suddenly from one kind of pressure into another. Nitrogen gets into the blood stream.
There isn't a thing wrong with any victim of the THING that couldn't be fixed by putting him back into Summer, then taking him out of it by slow degrees—preferably so slow it would be Spring before the job was done.

TVA Proposal Stirs New Uproar

By Raymond Moley
Sen. Barry Goldwater seems to have sent a tremor over the land by suggesting that the Tennessee Valley Authority be liquidated. The full statement of his plan is wholly reasonable, but the very suggestion of tampering with this institution troubles his friends and excites his enemies.
Gen. Eisenhower who, as I remember, called the TVA "creeping socialism" now furrows his brow because any candidate would touch what has become "an emotional way of life."
The TVA is just that. Schools and colleges in which the curriculums show sad neglect of basic American history and Anglo-American political institutions arrange visits to the valley for whole classes.
There, in the presence of roaring generators, falling waters, and black smoke, every head is bowed before what is misnamed "democracy in action."
In the 1932 campaign, Roosevelt merely said that he favored federal development of the World War I installation at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River. The vast paternalism that emerged the next year was the idea of Sen. George Norris, a curious document. It required that the members of the five-man governing board should be in sympathy with the purposes of the institution, purposes which in their aggregate were the creation of a vast welfare state.

A member could be removed for "contumacy," an old legal term which meant, as Roosevelt used it, disagreeing with the President or with fellow members.
The constitutional justification was alleged to be flood control, reforestation, navigation and other federal concerns.
As it stands, the TVA is in reality a government within and largely independent of the federal government. Many of its activities are duplications of functions already provided for in federal departments.
Federal money was lent at 1 per cent interest. And recently the TVA was empowered to issue its own bonds, a practice which was soundly condemned by the comptroller general of the United States.
This would enable the TVA to expand far beyond its original boundaries.

DESPITE THE VAST expenses for the alleged purpose of navigation, there has been no commensurate increase in river-borne commerce. And if there should be, it would greatly increase the distress of the railroads.
As far as flood control is concerned, the Army Engineers estimated that the damage from floods would normally equal in cost only half the amount spent to prevent them.
This monopoly almost immediately drove the private power companies from the area. No business can compete with a federal subsidy.
Goldwater's suggestions are that such functions as are duplications of activities in other departments should be turned over to those departments. Also, he says that TVA activities which have no counterparts should be sold and put under strict government supervision as to rates, etc.
No one in the Valley, Goldwater explains, would lose any of the services they already have. And government would be gotten out of matters which should never have been assumed.

Saigon's Reawakening

By Sance De Gramont

SAIGON

When the official history of the coup in South Viet Nam is written the twist will deserve a chapter.
For when the Vietnamese singers at the Arc-en-Ciel nightclub wails "There'll Be Twisting in Saigon Tonight," and the couples with determination twist away the night, it represents the end of a period of repression, a rigid Puritanism totally foreign to the tradition and rhythm of this city.
"Jack be nimble, Jack be quick, Jack go under the nimbliest," the singer groans into a hand microphone as he snakes his hips.
Vietnamese officers, probably more accustomed to slushing through rice paddies, lean back on their heels until they are low enough to pass under a stick held horizontally three feet from the floor, in a maneuver perhaps better known to Americans as "The Limbo," of Caribbean fame.

These officers and the thousands of twisters animating Saigon nightlife are shaking off the sometimes brutal, the sometimes absurd, restrictions of the Ngo dynasty.
UNTIL THE COUP, it was enough to be seen in conversation with an American to draw malevolent attention of the goons in sloppy shirts who served as Ngo Dinh Nhu's secret police. Now, Americans cannot walk one block without being accosted by a Vietnamese.

It's not only that a climate of fear has disappeared and that citizens are no longer subject to arbitrary arrest and torture. It's the lifting of measures ordered by the palace to control lives of people in all its aspects, measures designed to make Viet Nam a piece of real estate owned and managed by three autocratic landlords — Diem, Nhu and Madame Nhu.

Measures such as morality laws ordered last May by Mme. Nhu were said to involve personal reasons that could only be unraveled by court insiders but they affected the entire population.
This suspect Puritanism prohibited divorce, gambling, and dancing. Fortune telling became a crime, as did popular cock-fights that may seem barbaric to Westerners but they are a part of local culture.
Hostesses in bars were ordered to wear white smocks that made them look like hospital nurses. Popular sports like boxing and wrestling were banned. The Vietnamese people were being treated like immature children who must be deprived of goodies for misbehaving.

It seemed that Mme. Nhu would never run out of things to ban. Beauty contests were banned as a vulgar Western import. Twist was labeled a decadent dance that undermined morale. A sentimental soldiers' song about hard life on the Cambodian border was ruled defeatist and 40 other songs beloved by naturally mournful Vietnamese were banned.

An Amazing Proposal

By David Lawrence

Labor's Merger Plan Seen Too Restrictive

The union of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations was supposed to create a powerful friend for the workingman and to help build the system of free enterprise as a means of creating jobs and maintaining employment but a David Lawrence recommendation adopted by the AFL-CIO at its convention in New York City casts doubt on whether such an objective would be furthered. If the principle endorsed by the top labor leaders and delegates were enacted into law it would tend to impede the operation and expansion of various businesses.

The resolution adopted at the convention referred only to sales or mergers of newspapers, but, if the federal statute proposed were passed, the formula could be applied to any business which was in financial trouble and wanted to conserve its assets by a sale or merger.

An Associated Press dispatch on last Wednesday read in part as follows:

"The resolution would require publishers to give advance notice to all labor organizations involved in a proposed merger, suspension or sale of a newspaper."

"The resolution said that, when there are claims that a newspaper is being disposed of because it is losing money, the Justice Department should be authorized to ask for a court-appointed appraiser to determine its fair market value."

"Then, under the resolution, the newspaper would be thrown open for bids from prospective purchasers willing to pledge continued publication. The publisher would be required to accept a bid equal to the value set by the court-appointed appraiser."

THIS IS an astonishing proposal, for it would set aside the right for the seller to do business with whomever he pleases—a broad consequence perhaps of the assumption in the civil rights debate that Congress can dictate to whom sales in the business market should be made.

Many times a would-be buyer offers cash and promissory notes but the seller has to make up his own mind whether the bidder is likely to have enough success in the business to pay off such notes. Often a sale of property goes to a bidder who doesn't make the highest financial offer but who seems to the seller to be most capable of paying the amount due in the years ahead. In the AFL-CIO resolution, no such discretion would be allowed to the seller, who would be compelled by court order to accept the bid selected on the basis of only one factor—the number of dollars in the price offered.

If, however, a competitor whose property would be strengthened by a merger were to make a good offer—even if it were the highest—the theory of the AFL-CIO resolution is that the Justice Department would promptly call this a monopoly and the sale would be barred.

Does the Constitution, which says Congress shall make no law abridging the "freedom of the press," permit the passage of laws which would undertake to tell a newspaper publisher to whom he can sell his property or that he cannot discontinue his paper and sell parts of his assets to one buyer and parts to another?

MANY A NEWSPAPER in the process of going out of business has sold its list of mail subscribers, usually a small part of the total, and disposed of portions of its property—plant and equipment—to various purchasers.

Another phase of the AFL-CIO scheme which could impair the market value of a business is the requirement that notice must be given in advance of an intention to sell or suspend a publication.

One can imagine what psychological impact this could have on the employees, as many of them—during the interval of public discussion of a possible sale—would promptly turn to other jobs and make it impossible for the owner company actually to pass on to the buyer a going concern.

One can imagine also what the customers would do—especially suppliers and advertisers—if they were told the business was in financial difficulty.

Newspapers are no different from other businesses which are merged or suspended due to economic conditions. The superior efforts of one competitor as against another really determine whether particular businesses can continue on their own steam or should be sold while there is still a chance to salvage some of the assets. In almost every industry—for instance, in the manufacture of automobiles or in steel or in the corner grocery—there has been a diminution in the number of businesses but there has also been an expansion in other directions so that the total national output has risen steadily and employment has been substantially augmented.

LABOR LEADERS have at times used their political and economic power—and particularly their right to strike—to interfere with the natural laws of business enterprise.

The railroads today are seeking mergers because they cannot continue to pay the high wage costs, especially for "featherbedding," which is the name given to payment made for work not done. In the proposed law on the merger of newspaper properties, would the buyer be required to give jobs to employees he didn't need?

It's unrealistic to insist that the government now should become the dictator in the transfer of ownership of those businesses which are losing money. Nor should businessmen who are thinking of selling their properties be compelled to tell the world they are in danger of bankruptcy if they continue to operate.

This kind of law is not likely to preserve the free-enterprise system but could eventually bring instead a state-controlled system and legalized monopoly.

Theme Listed For East End

"Secret of Happiness" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Ronald Rearing, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Church, at the East End union Thanksgiving service Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Boyce church. The service is being sponsored by the East End congregations.

The Scriptures will be presented by the Rev. S. H. Estel, pastor of the Oakland Free Methodist; responsive reading, Carl Stockdale, a layman at the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist; prayer, the Rev. E. D. Arrington, Second Baptist, and invocation and benediction, the Rev. Harry Lutton, Second United Presbyterian.

The choir of the host church will sing a special number, "Come Ye Thankful People Come."

The offering will be used for the Tri-State Hospital Chaplaincy Fund.

Chester Union Rites Planned

The Rev. Donald Vogel, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Chester, will be the speaker at Chester's Thanksgiving union service Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Church of the Nazarene.

The Chester Ministerial Association is sponsoring the joint service.

Other ministers who will participate include the Rev. William Claghorn of the Westminster United Presbyterian, Earliss Gleaton, First Christian, and the Rev. Paul Dippolito, First Methodist.

Music will be provided by the host church, of which the Rev. Robert Thomas is pastor.

The offering will go toward the Tri-State Hospital Chaplaincy program and also to meet the needs of the community.

Cambridge Minister To Take New Pulpit

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Joseph T. Brownlee, 49, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church of Cambridge for 17 years will become pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church here Dec. 1.

He is moderator of the Muskingum Presbytery and was moderator of the Ohio United Presbyterian Synod before the 1958 merger. Born in Washington, Pa., he served three years as pastor of the Lisbon, Ohio, United Presbyterian Church before becoming a World War II army hospital chaplain.

3 Services To Mark Church Anniversary

Three services will be held Sunday at the Full Gospel Assembly in Wellsville in observance of its fourth anniversary.

Sunday School rally will be at 10 a. m.; singings, 2:15 p. m., with the Rev. J. W. Conrad in charge, and evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited. The Rev. K. F. Jackson is pastor.

LOVE

IS A BEAUTIFUL THING. It lifts us above ourselves. It makes us think of others. Yet it is love and the almost stifling fear of losing it that makes us put off, and put off, and put off again one of the most important problems of living.

All of us, no matter how deeply loved, or loving, must die -- and when death comes there must also follow burial. Where? In some hastily chosen plot of ground, unlandscaped and unmarked? It that the way to treat your "last, full measure of devotion"? You know it isn't. By deciding soon the whole family can participate in choosing the site, the Memorial, the landscaping. Let us help you without charge or obligation. Visit our fully stocked display rooms, where you can shop in comfort and privacy. Dr. G. Ousley Brown, pastor of the Weir Cove United Presbyterian Church in Weirton, will be guest speaker for a series of Faith and Life Spiritual Emphasis services nightly at 7:30 Sunday through Tuesday at the Westminster United Presbyterian Church in Chester.

Dr. Brown, a graduate of the College of Wooster and of McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, was awarded the doctor of divinity degree from Davis & Elkins College in 1961.

Prior to his Weirton pastorate, he served as director of Christian education at the Lakeview Presbyterian Church at Chicago, director of boys' work at Campbell Christian Neighborhood House at Campbell, Ohio, and served pastorates at the First Presbyterian Church at Fredericktown, Ohio, (1940-47), and the First Presbyterian Church at Fostoria (1947-56).

He has been engaged in denominational work, serving as chairman of ministerial relations for the Synod of West Virginia and chairman of its Christian education committee. He is a trustee of Davis and Elkins and of the Weirton General Hospital.

The theme of the special services is "Our Discipleship." Sermon topics will be "Prepared Discipleship," "Present Discipleship," and "Personal Discipleship."

The Rev. Paul Brookes, superintendent of the Emmanuel Mission in Chester, will be song leader. Special music is being arranged.

Neighboring churches and their pastors are invited. The Rev. William L. Claghorn is pastor.

Rural Churches Set Commitment Service

Commitment Sunday will be observed during worship tomorrow at the Clarkson and New Waterford United Presbyterian Churches.

The service at the Clarkson church will be at 9:30 a. m. and at 11 a. m. at New Waterford.

Robert I. Moore, minister, will use "Treasures and Self" for his sermon at both.

A community Thanksgiving service will be held at the Lutheran Church at New Waterford Wednesday night at 8:30.

Senator's Widow Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, 77, widow of Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney from Wyoming, died in a suburban Silver Springs, Md., hospital after suffering a stroke.

Missionary Day Planned

Missionary Day will be observed Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at the Midland Church of the Living God with Mrs. Robert Clingman of Chicago, a missionary, as the speaker. About 100 are expected to attend.

Mrs. Clingman, wife of the Rev. Robert Clingman, is a native of Carbondale, Ill. Her topic will be "The Value of a Good Woman."

Special music will be presented by several choirs. Missionary circles of area churches will also participate in the program.

Mrs. Reoma Samuel is chairman and Mrs. Minnie Abbot is co-chairman. The Rev. J. J. Jackson is pastor.

Masses Set For Catholics

Masses will be celebrated at area Catholic Churches Thanksgiving Day.

At St. Aloysius, with Fr. Carl Nicolay as pastor, Masses will be at 7, 8 and 9 a. m.

Fr. Eugene Jacobs of the Chester Sacred Heart Church will say Mass at 7:30 a. m.

Mass at the Immaculate Conception Church at Wellsville will be said at 9 a. m. by Fr. Gerald X. Curran.

At the Midland Presentation Church, Masses will be said at 7 and 7:30 a. m. and Fr. Francis E. Paul is pastor.

St. Christine Mission in Ohio View, with Fr. Adelbert Williams, pastor, will hold Mass at 8 a. m.

Prince Of Peace Contest Planned

The 1963 Columbiana County Prince of Peace Contest will be held at the Centenary Methodist Church in East Palestine Sunday at 7 p. m.

Miss Mary Ruth Walker of Columbiana will give the selection, "World Peace — You and I." Miss Kathleen Margaret Scott of Columbiana R.D. 2, will give "The Church's One Foundation." Miss Paula Wheldon of East Liverpool, "Challenge to Peace."

The winner will participate in the district contest to be held Dec. 8.

Miss Linda Eckhardt of Columbiana will receive a first-place award for the written essay for Columbiana County. Her essay in turn will be placed in district competition.

Play To Be Presented At Wellsville Church

A play, "Christianity In a Crisis," presented by the New Hope Baptist Church of East Liverpool and directed by Mrs. Eugene Taylor, will be given Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Wellsville.

The leads, "Christian Church" and "New Age Freedom," will be taken by Miss Lucille Thomas and Miss Kathleen Waters, respectively. The special program is sponsored by the choir of which Miss Edith Fuqua is the president.

Killed In Wreck

CLEVELAND (AP) — An east side youth was killed early today when the car he was driving went out of control and overturned on top of him on East 79th Street near Kinsman Road, SE. Police tentatively identified the victim as Raymond Cole, 16, of Cleveland through papers the youth carried.

Events Set In Churches Of District

Thomas C. Kelly of Harmony, Pa., will be the worker at the 7:30 p. m. services Sunday and Monday at the First Spiritualist Church.

A special program Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at the New Jerusalem Baptist Church in Wellsville will feature the Rev. Robert Mason of Farrell as the speaker.

Suffragen Bishop William S. Thomas of the Pittsburgh Diocese will visit St. Luke's Episcopal Church at Georgetown Sunday, and will preside at a congregational meeting at 3 p. m. and speak at worship services.

The Rev. Luther Lewis of the Mt. Hiram Baptist Church will be guest speaker at the 11 a. m. worship Sunday of the First Baptist Church of Wellsville. He will also speak for the Brotherhood Club at 3 p. m. James Diggs is president of the club and the Rev. John H. Maiden is pastor.

Pastors Sponsor Salineville Event

The Salineville Ministerial Association will sponsor the annual union Thanksgiving service Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Calvary United Presbyterian Church.

The Thanksgiving sermon will be given by the Rev. Delbert Miller of the Assembly of God Church. Other clergymen who will participate will be the Rev. Allan Rose of the Methodist church, Gerald Finnie, minister of the Church of Christ, and the Rev. Monte May of the Monroeville Assembly of God Church.

An offering will be taken for the American Bible Society and the local benevolent fund.

Witness Group To Attend Event

A delegation of the East Liverpool congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will attend the semi-annual circuit assembly Friday through Dec. 1 at Weirton.

Emerson Booth, local presiding minister, said it is a religious seminar, with demonstrations of teaching aids and methods, relating of field experiences, discussion of Bible teachings, a model ministry school demonstration and Bible talks.

Baptism of new Witnesses will be held Nov. 30.

All sessions of the three-day program are open to the public with a special public lecture Dec. 1 at 3 p. m.

District Counts Its Blessings As Thanksgiving Nears

By GLENN H. WAIGHT

Turkey, football and the counting of blessings were the Thanksgiving thoughts of Tri-State District residents 50 years ago, and will probably be the same for next Thursday and 100 years from now.

Each of us has specific attitudes, special ways of marking the holiday, but this American tradition, dating back to the Pilgrim days, is not much changed from past years and probably will change little—in spirit—in the years to come.

The family gatherings, the tasty drumsticks, the pause to consider the many bounties from the Lord—these long have been the holiday pattern and will be the same, it is hoped, despite space travel and the vagaries of national, world and planetary politics.

The tragedy of President Kennedy's death will sadden next week's observance, but this nation will render thanks for a way of life and a government which rests not on one man alone but upon the people.

Feast, Football Traditional

HORSES, BUGGIES, street cars and high-wheeled, noisy autos cluttered the city streets in 1913 when the last Thursday in November rolled around.

The golden brown bird or ham centered most tables, mother and dad went to the morning union church services and the young men either went to the grid contest or into the area woods for some hunting.

"Keeping Thanksgiving in the Spirit of Christ" was the sermon of the Rev. J. C. Thompson of the Sheridan AME Church during a union service at the First United Presbyterian Church.

The Morning Tribune editorialized: "No matter how poor you are, no matter what sorrows have come to you, no matter how dark the future appears, you should be thankful, for there have been blessings also that perhaps you never counted . . . Forget your troubles . . . remember only your blessings."

There was a lot to be thankful for—America continued in steady peacetime industrial growth, coupled with political and economic reforms. In this area, the potteries in the city and across the river maintained a dominating role in the industry, and the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. had begun rolling ingots at its new mill in Midland.

BESIDES THE union church services—which Thomas Jones, retired city newspaperman recalls were "jammed"—the highlight of Thanksgiving was the annual football game.

The grid clashes were generally between traditional rivals and Mr. Jones remembers a session of Billy Sunday's evangelistic series here which was canceled because of the holiday game between East Liverpool and Wellsville high schools.

In 1913, the city eleven ended its season with a 26-3 win over Wellsville at the "West End Park field." Chester High School beat New Cumberland, 21-0, for the Hancock County championship.

And the yearly turkey day game between Pleasant Heights and Sunnyvale ended with Heights the loser—18 to 6.

Even sadness and poverty were blessed with the spirit of the day. A family of 10—unemployed father, mother and eight children from 6 months to 16 years—were discovered without food and scantily clothed, huddled in straw in a stable just north of Calcutta. They were given clothing and brought to the City Hall for a turkey dinner.

What The Future May Bring

WHAT WILL THANKSGIVING be like 100 years from now, and for what will people be thankful?

Whom better to turn to than the imaginative, elementary school student, uninhibited with his or her newfound literary talent?

Here are some samples from the East End's Garfield School fourth grade concerning Thanksgiving a century hence: "Instant turkey and dehydrated cranberry sauce . . . and a ride on the intra-ultra sub-missile car," predicts Andy Bevan. "Moon people will be doing the work, teaching us what to do, fighting for us," sees Jackie Chavis.

"The whole town will enjoy Thanksgiving together," Michael Banfield believes. "Dinner will start in the evening and last until dawn."

Cindy McHenry thinks the holiday will be even more extended—"There will be so many things to be thankful for, blessings will be so numerous, Thanksgiving may be a week long . . ."

"Maybe there won't be a turkey on the table," ponders Penny Lynn Hutchison, "but people will be thankful, if they know the story of the Indians and the Pilgrims, the story about that day that will go ringing down the years . . ."

SOME LINCOLN SCHOOL views on the 21st-century holiday:

" . . . food called space-chops," Debra Wolfe; "pushbutton kitchens, food pills cooked in one second," Sandra Eardley. "Pappy will watch the pro spaceball game . . ." J. D. Gauron; "They might have a robot for a teacher—they might even have a computer for a principal . . ." Kenny Jones.

What will we be thankful for then? "Our schools and church," writes Bill Kristy of Lincoln, "our health and parents, our teachers, our warm house, our clothes, to see, to hear, to talk, our trees and leaves, swim pools and lakes, our friends, our books, our streets to walk on, the pretty things we have."

I THINK PERHAPS the most concise expression of the concept of the American holiday—appreciation for the material and spiritual blessings of our way of life—is summed up by David Johnson, Garfield fourth-grader.

David, looking ahead to Thanksgiving 2063, hopes there will be schools with "electric erasers, writing machines and paper cutters."

But he also hopes Americans, then as now, will be "thankful for freedom and plenty of food."

Today's Fortune Hailed

APART FROM THE personal blessings each of us should count on the coming holiday, for what else can we be thankful this November 1963?

Tom Chema, president of the East Liverpool High School senior class, declares, "Mankind's God-given ability to learn ranks high among our blessings. We must not neglect to thank God for this ability—all Americans should give thanks for the opportunities to advance our knowledge."

"We should list this appreciation next to that for freedom, because knowledge is a basic requisite to maintain our liberty," he states.

"Finally, we should be thankful for the abilities and opportunities to learn, because knowledge must come before we are able to love, and love precedes our capacity to serve. This loving and serving are the factors which make life worth living, and knowledge is their root."

"MOST OF ALL," says Bennett Taylor of Lisbon, Columbiana Boy Scout Council executive, "I'm thankful I have the opportunity to pass on to the generation that follows the love and appreciation of all the things this nation, under God, has to offer."

"I'm thankful I live among people who care—who care enough about each individual that they will do everything they can to give that person the opportunity to become a good, useful, God-loving citizen."

How can we make our thanks manifest?

Taylor says, "By sharing and serving. To keep my God, I must share Him with others—to keep my freedom, I must share it with others. Yet I have not these gifts outright, but share them by 'serving' my fellow man so that he will know I have them and he will want them too."

"WE SHOULD BE grateful," according to Mrs. Ralph Hobbs of Chester—teacher, clubwoman and church leader—"that we are living in a place that is physically safe—we have no mountain slides, hurricanes, no lurking guerrillas, no threat of bloody overthrow of our government."

"We should appreciate our existence in a free land where the opportunities are here if we want them. We may work to please ourselves, rear our children by example and encouragement, and use our spare time as we see fit."

"There is no conspiracy to hold us down; we may be ourselves, think for ourselves and learn priceless lessons from our mistakes."

We are thankful for our churches where we may go with love and, sometimes, faith, but always with hope and good intentions . . . We are thankful for the schools that help us with our children by encouraging them to think for themselves and to practice tolerance and service."

Secretary To Senate

Like most Americans, the average Tri-State area resident gave little thought to minor officialdom which surrounds the U.S. Senate until Bobby Gene Baker, majority secretary, resigned last month as an investigation opened into his activities. A check into the Senate organization shows a whip, floor leader and secretary for each party, plus a clerk, chaplain and senate secretary.

This latter post, serving the whole Senate, was once held by a Columbian County man—Anson G. McCook, one of the famed "Fighting McCooks" of the area.

McCook, educated at Lisbon, taught for a while in the district, went west with the 49ers in the gold rush, then returned to read law with his cousin, George McCook, law partner of Edwin M. Stanton at Steubenville. Stanton later was Lincoln's secretary of war. When the Civil War began, McCook, 26, formed a company of infantry at Steubenville and joined the 2nd Ohio Volunteer Infantry, fighting in many battles. He became colonel and finally a brevet brigadier general.

After the war, he moved to New York to practice law and won election to the House of Representatives as Republican Congressman from the 8th District three times—1876-1882.

He was appointed Secretary of the Senate, serving from 1884 to 1893. He later was editor of the New York Law Journal.

There was a breed of men during the American Civil War known as "bounty jumpers". These men enlisted in the army or navy solely to collect the bounty paid to volunteers, and they made a regular business of this. They would enlist, collect their bounty, desert and then re-enlist under another name.

The duration of life of the average housefly varies from 10 to 15 days. Experiments have been made, however, that reveal the fact that the longest life of a fly is about 62 days.

Odd Facts

The source of shellac is a tiny parasitic insect called the lac, which is found on certain types of plum trees in India, Burma, and Thailand. It lives on limbs and twigs, secreting lac resin, which is scraped off and made into shellac. While science knows quite a bit of the chemical composition of lac, it cannot produce it synthetically.

In 1626, Francis Bacon wrote the story, "The New Atlantis" in which the people concerned had airplanes, submarines and sound-carrying devices. Bacon also predicted the telephone 250 years before Alexander Graham Bell's patent.

The Mail Box

Last week's picture story on blacksmith Jim Crago of Pughtown moved Mrs. Josephine Hicks of Steubenville to point out that her father and grandfather in Chester are also active smiths.

They are Joe Irwin, 87, of Railroad St., and his son, Lester Irwin, 60, who are partners in the blacksmith business.

Unlike Crago, who seldom strays from his backyard shop to find work, the Irwins travel hither and yon applying shoes to horses of all kinds, taking along their equipment that is installed in a three-quarter ton truck.

Joe Irwin's shop in Chester is being moved to Lisbon St. in Wellsville, due to the age of the old shop. A veteran smith, Irwin was official blacksmith at a charity horse show in Youngstown for 17 years and was once associated with the Wells-Fargo office in East Liverpool.

Mr. Irwin turns all his horseshoes from bar steel. Mrs. Hicks points out her grandfather and father "fit the shoe to the foot, not the foot to the shoe." In other words, the horseshoes they make are custom-fashioned.

We can easily see why this is necessary. High-spirited show horses—probably the fillies in particular—would be uncomfortable in anything but a perfect pair of new slippers.

Veteran Norwegian explorer Dr. Helge Ingstad says a site near L'Anse aux Meadows, a small fishing village at the northern tip of Newfoundland, closely fits the description of Leif Ericson's settlement in Iceland.

Boston Commons, set aside in 1634 as public property, ranks as America's oldest public park. In 1830, the city fathers drove off the cows and planted trees and flowers.

Around Irondale Mrs. Hanna Brown is considered by most pie lovers as a "real champion" in the art of baking, especially where pecan pies are concerned. Here's her recipe for a tasty winner:

PECAN PIE

- 1/2 Cup melted butter, not oleo.
- 3/4 Cup maple syrup.
- 1/2 Cup white sugar.
- 1/4 Cup white syrup.
- 3 Whole eggs, beaten until yellow.
- 1 Cup pecans.
- Use unbaked pie shell, 8 or 9 inches. Mix all ingredients together, adding 1 Tsp. vanilla and the pecans last. Pour into pie shell and bake for 1 hour and ten minutes at 325 to 350 degree oven.

Mrs. Brown uses a piece of foil around the edges to keep the pie from getting too brown, removing the foil about 20 minutes before taking it from the oven.

PIE CRUST

- For Single Crust
- 1 1/2 Cups flour.
  - 1/2 Tsp. salt.
  - 1/2 Cup Shortening.
  - 3 to 4 Tbsp. water.
  - Mix ingredients with fork or pie crust blender, roll and place in pie plate.

When were some of the early newspapers established in the district?

The Ohio Patriot, one of Ohio's oldest papers, was printed at Lisbon from 1808 to 1924. When it was founded, there were only four other papers in the state—Chillicothe, Steubenville, Cincinnati and Marietta. Until 1818 there were no papers at Cleveland, and legal advertising and job printing for Cuyahoga County were done by The Patriot.

The East Liverpool Mercury was established in May 1861 by George Luckey and J. W. Harris. It continued until July 1862.

J. W. Plattenburg founded the Hancock County Courier at Fairview, later Pughtown, in 1869.

The Midland Press was published briefly before World War I, the Midland Telegram in the 1924 period, and the Midland News was started in 1922.

City, Area Skiers Get Ready To Jump Back Into Action

READYING THEIR GEAR for the opening of a new ski season are four city men who regularly enjoy the snow-covered slopes of nearby resorts. Ray Peduzzi lends a hand as Ralph Finley dons his ski boots. Burchfield Cartwright (left) and Collin Neal look on.

SKIS REQUIRE application of a special wax for an effortless glide on the snow and Ralph A. Finley finds the recreation room of his Pond St. home a good place to complete the job before the season opens. The wax prevents snow from sticking to the surface.

SAFETY RULES in skiing include a check of the straps and bindings, like Collin Neal is doing here, to guard against unnecessary accidents while flashing down a tree-lined trail. Ski boots, like the $40 model Neal is wearing, are specially built for ruggedness and winter comfort.

Christmas Trees To Sparkle In Record Number This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Christmas trees will sparkle in American homes in record numbers this year.

All signs point to a new production high — 35 million trees cut and sold. To them will be added about 10 million Canadian imports. Americans will pay an estimated $100 million for the trees — also a record. Last year Americans paid $96 million for some 33.3 million trees produced in the United States.

"There's no significant increase in price this year," A.M. Sowder, the Christmas tree expert in the U.S. Forest Service, said today in an interview.

For the fathers across the land who go down to the corner lot to buy the family's Christmas tree, there are 30 different species for choosing.

Last year the favorite choice was Scotch pine, replacing Douglas Fir which headed the list in the last previous survey in 1960.

Pines hold their needles well, but some varieties of Scotch pines take a yellowish cast in the months preceding Christmas.

Sowder told of one grower who advertised them as "golden" pines and sold them for more than the green variety.

Gone are the good old days when families bundled up and went out to the fields or up the mountainside to cut their Christmas tree.

However, the old-fashioned tradition is coming back in a different way. Tree plantations near the cities now are offering customers a chance to come out and get their tree on a choose-and-cut basis.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about bluing spots on white materials?

A. Bluings differ chemically, and any spots due to them require different treatments. Cold water is a general method. Dampening the spot with alcohol before laundering will usually remove the stain. If the stain persists, oxalic acid may be used, too.

Q. How can I freshen a pair of white kid gloves?

A. Slip on your hands, then rub moistened bread crumbs or white cornmeal between the palms and fingers. Polish with a cotton-flannel cloth.

They'll Head For The Hills

By CHARLES R. CRONIN

Although some splendid skiing facilities are as near to East Liverpool as a two-hour auto ride, only a few folks in the local area ever bother to take the time to enjoy them.

About three million Americans take to the glistening slopes each winter, among them less than a dozen men from this vicinity who could be described as consistent skiers.

These few "make" the ski scene by journeying to the Laurel Mountains, not far from Pittsburgh, and within easy driving distance of East Liverpool.

There, for the price of a pair of 50-yard line tickets to a college football game, young and old alike can spend an exhilarating afternoon gliding on the slopes amid a winter fairland of beauty.

THE THRILLS OF skiing — whipping down a snow-packed trail, leaning into a biting wind, the scenery a blur at your side, are not easily forgotten.

Here is a sport that seems to take hold of your dormant yearn for adventure, and won't seem to let go once you have buckled on a pair of skis and schussed down a beginner's trail, perhaps imaging yourself an Olympic champion.

Later, chatting by a warm fireside in a nearby hostelry, savoring hot food and drink while reliving the day's experiences with friends, tops off a day that will bring pleasant memories to mind years later.

The fastest — growing sport in the U. S., skiing has failed to catch on in the East Liverpool area for several key reasons, chiefly the lack of an unobstructed trail and ski tow.

There are some hillsides where local enthusiasts might spend an hour or two on a clear winter afternoon, but the lack of a tow takes away much of the pleasure. No one likes to trudge wearily uphill with an armload of gear.

Snowfall here is often plentiful enough for skiing, if some industrious person would gamble on developing a facility.

RALPH A. FINLEY, an officer in the Smith & Phillips Co., who is one of the handful of men from the local area who pursue skiing to any great extent, feels strongly that skiing as a family sport would boom in East Liverpool if the facilities were installed.

He's been a regular visitor to the Laurel Mountains for several years and is frequently pursued down the slopes by a daughter, Jill, 13, who picked up the mechanics of skiing rapidly.

Finley, who flies a plane in his business operations, estimates a tow could be built on a cleared slope in this area for approximately $600.

Learning isn't a serious hurdle for beginners. "It's as easy as riding a bicycle," Finley declares.

Active skiers such as Finley, who prefer to traverse the trails with their own equipment, usually spend about $200 to $250 for gear and clothing.

But tyros, unsure of their potential of developing into an expert, can rent the necessary gear and spend as little as $10 for an entire afternoon of skiing in the Laurel area.

CLOTHING isn't especially important for beginners who are just getting interested in the sport.

But in some areas, skiing has become quite fashionable. Some even go as far as describing the sport as high-fashion. Ski wear and equipment grosses the ski industry close to $1 billion a year. And the well-dressed skier can choose from an array of vivid tones and designs in garb.

Stretch pants are a "must" for the fashionable coeds out for a weekend of fun on the slopes. And woolen masks made popular by the Peruvians are also part of the smart skier's wardrobe.

Functional from the standpoint of giving facial protection from wintry blasts, the Peruvian masks come in intriguing, colorful designs. There's also a hidden advantage: Those having their ups and downs are offered blessed anonymity!

THE LAUREL Mountain area resort known as Seven Springs is the favorite winter hangout for Collin L. Neal of the First National Bank and Frank Mangano of Newell Central Service.

Both are excellent skiers and have entered hair-raising slalom races on the fine runs at Seven Springs.

"It's fascinating, there's just nothing like it in the world," exclaims Neal, a resident of Anderson Blvd.

Neal and Mangano once entered a two-mile giant slalom race at the Pennsylvania resort. Neal finished the run in 44 seconds, beating the qualifying time by six seconds.

It was in this race that Mangano, one of the best skiers in this area, suffered a broken ankle in a fall. The best time of the day in this race was 34 seconds.

Neal feels that the changing weather is probably the only thing that might hinder development of a ski run here, where snow melts rather quickly compared with the mountain areas. But finding a steep trail to clear would appear an easy task due to the area's topography.

REY PEDUZZI, assistant football coach at East Liverpool High School, hails from Trafford, Pa., where skiing is everybody's favorite sport.

He learned to ski in the Laurel Mountains nearby and graduated early from the beginner's slope to the intermediate trails. But since he came to East Liverpool seven years ago, Re y doesn't get back to the mountains very often.

"One of the most important things in skiing is to overcome the fear of getting hurt," says Peduzzi. Re y also feels that just getting outdoors in the brisk weather is a big part of the sport itself.

One of his favorite spots is Chick's Landing east of Ligonier, a privately-owned tract equipped with a rope tow and small lodge. Scenery in the small valley surrounding the lodge is strikingly beautiful in the winter, and the air is crisp and smells of sweet pine. There the snow piles into drifts several feet high, affording a soft landing for an accidental tumble.

ANOTHER local resident who skis often is Burchfield Cartwright, personnel manager of the Homer Laughlin China Co. Dick Sant of East Liverpool, an experienced skier, might reflect on his past escapades on the trails with gloom — he's suffered broken legs three times. Sid Porter of Broadview Circle also skis regularly.

With Christmas just around the corner, a gift of new skis and poles just might be the ticket for a husband who complains of not getting enough exercise, or a brother who feels left out in the cold because his college chums count themselves among the "ski set."

A word of caution, however: Before you race outside Christmas Day and prepare to plunge over the backyard hillside like a Squaw Valley veteran — pay that Blue Shield premium before it's too late.

How High Is Up In Hancock?

Re-Check Of History Book Confirms Stewart's Hill Is Tops

There have been some interesting behind-the-scenes activities the past week in connection with last Saturday's "Question Corner" citing Stewart's Hill as the point of highest elevation in Hancock County.

One of the readers challenged the claim of the county surveyor that Stewart's Hill is the highest spot in Hancock, and set out to find evidence that would prove him wrong.

William Oyster Jr., who felt confident that Locust Hill near his farm was higher than Stewart's Hill, began pouring over old maps and records in challenging the small but important statistic.

The information he uncovered proved Surveyor A. L. Stackpole is right, and Oyster wrong, with Stewart's Hill (1,360 feet) topping Locust Hill (1,337 feet) by 23 feet.

BUT MORE significant is the fact that Oyster's investigation sent the surveyor back to his maps for a re-check, and Stackpole discovered that his geological maps furnished by the federal government ignore Locust Hill completely, and it doesn't exist as far as the government surveyors are concerned.

How could trained surveyors fail to record the elevation of an area as massive as Locust Hill in a complete survey?

Stackpole intends to find out by writing to the publishers of his map in Washington, who will evidently become red-faced when they learn of their overlooking such a landmark as Locust Hill.

He feels perhaps they can clear up the mystery of why his maps record the elevation of Stewart's Hill as 1,287 feet, and the book lists 1,360 feet. The latter figure is apparently the correct one.

OYSTER'S EFFORTS to disprove Stewart's Hill lofty status as the champion hill in Hancock led him to a weathered granite marker in the rural area of Chester, placed there in a geological survey years ago.

The "bench mark" is located on a high bluff overlooking Locust Hill Cemetery. It is a small granite pillar, capped with a circular metal plate with the legend, "U. S. Geological LOCUST HILL MARKER. William Oyster Jr. checks the legend on a metal cap of this granite pillar on Locust Hill near Chester, listing its elevation as 1,337 feet, 23 feet lower than Stewart's Hill which is apparently the point of highest elevation in Hancock County.

Survey, 1,337 feet above sea level."

Some of the lettering is difficult to read because the plate has been dented with the blade of a knife or ax, despite the warning, "$50 fine for disturbing this marker."

Oyster's farmhouse is within sight of the granite block, and he remembers it was there of C. F. Cook, topographer, and J. E. Buford, level man."

OTHER MARKERS listing elevation were placed at the old Pughtown, now a feed store, and the D. S. Schiller Foundry Works along the river in New Cumberland.

Oyster's book and topographical maps show Stewart's Hill the champion and Locust Hill runner-up, and he's willing to accept that fact, although he wonders why the government surveyors ignored Locust Hill in their survey.

Oyster remembers his grandfather claimed that one could see parts of seven counties from the Locust Hill marker on a clear day — Allegheny, Washington and Beaver in Pennsylvania, Brooke and Hancock in West Virginia, and Columbiana and Jefferson in Ohio.

Chester Council Told

Water Facility Seen Inadequate

A recommendation for an improved water storage facility for Chester was made to Council Friday night by a representative of a Charleston engineering firm.

Harry Gidley of Gidley, Kelly & Staub reported on a preliminary survey of the Chester water system made in October.

HE SAID the municipal water sources and distribution system are adequate, but the reservoir "has practically outlived its usefulness."

Gidley suggested one or two storage tanks be built to replace the open reservoir, which has a capacity of 1,750,000 gallons.

Gidley said the city's water sources — the crib system in the Ohio River at the upper pump station and a deep well at the pump station at 1st St. — are adequate.

"The distribution of water is good, even though the water lines are old," he declared, adding the pipes are almost as good as when installed.

THE ENGINEER said cleaning of the mains will improve the flow of water for the present, but pipes will become corroded as much again in five years.

He suggested a 12-inch main leading from Pan Ave. to the reservoir be tied in with a 10-inch main, also linking Pan Ave. and the reservoir, to increase the flow of water.

Gidley said he understands the city is working on a metering project — to expand the number of meters in city homes — and he urged the water service to be extended to all homes in the city not now supplied.

CONCERNING the reservoir, he said it would cost as much to repair the reservoir and to cover it as it would to erect one or two small steel tanks.

He suggested Council study the possibility of erecting a large tank with a 1-million-gallon capacity which he believes would be a sufficient supply for the city.

Councilman Donald Chaney asked about financing such a water improvement program.

Gidley said second mortgage revenue water bonds could be issued or a federal grant could be obtained.

Mayor Harry Abrams pointed out Hancock and Brooke Counties have now been removed from the list of areas of unemployment to which the accelerated public works funds could be allotted.

GIDLEY said a survey should be made by a consulting engineering firm to determine the cost of a water improvement program. Questioned by Chaney, he said such a survey would cost between $500 and $750.

Council will further study the proposal at the meeting Dec. 3. Councilmen Charles Kology and Carl Graham and Clerk Roy Cashdollar were absent.

Wellsville Pair Married For 66 Years Sunday

A Wellsville couple, Mr. and Mrs. William B. (Bill) Nicholson, will quietly observe 66 years of married life Sunday at their home, 330 18th St.

The former Miss Allie Baxter and Nicholson were united in marriage Nov. 24, 1897, by the Rev. C. L. V. McKee, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, at the home of her parents.

Their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, died within the last few years but one of those attending the wedding, Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison, still is living.

Nicholson was employed by the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co. and the Motor Transit Co. for 50 years, retiring when he was 75.

They had one son, Roy Nicholson, who is deceased and there are three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. If the weather permits Mrs. Dolly Harding, a granddaughter, plans to have the couple for dinner Sunday at her home on Clark Ave.

Jury Will Start Deliberations In Extortion Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A U. S. District Court jury of seven men and five women will begin Monday deliberating the case of Samuel S. Fekett, former Youngstown city law director charged with extorting and attempting to extort money from contractors doing business with that city.

Testimony and final arguments by both sides were completed Friday and Judge James C. Connell will charge the jury Monday morning.

Fekett admitted under cross-examination that he had no records of performing any legal work for Syro Steel Co. of Girard. He had testified Thursday that a $750 check he received from Nick Di Margo, engineer for the company, was for legal services.

The steel firm had a subcontract to furnish materials to Pilorosso Construction Co. of Girard, which had the contract for construction of the Kirkmere Creek culvert. According to testimony presented at the trial, the check was given to Fekett at a time when there was delay in awarding the contract.

William S. Lynch and Jacob Tanzer, Department of Justice attorneys, contended in arguments to the jury that the government had presented full and complete proof of Fekett's guilt. Fred H. Mandel, Fekett's attorney, said there had been no proof of his client's guilt. He attacked the reliability of the government's witnesses.

College Day For Oak Glen Set Dec. 10

Oak Glen High School students will observe "College Day" Dec. 10 from 9 to 11 a.m. when representatives of 21 institutions of higher learning will be present to explain campus life and requirements for admission.

Principal E. Russell Slack said parents are especially invited to sit in on the group discussions between the college representatives and the students.

The activity will be held either at Chester Junior High School or the new Oak Glen building in Pughtown, depending on when students move into the new plant.

Students may pick four representatives for discussions from the following list:

Ohio Lawmakers Study Bills On Aid To Children

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two bill drafts—both of which would authorize the federal Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed program in Ohio until June 30, 1965—are under study by state lawmakers who sit on a welfare study committee.

One calls for financing through federal and state funds and transfer by counties of a portion of the public utilities excise tax. The other would, among other things, change the method of financing so up to half the state-county share of ADCU and aid to Dependent Children comes from poor relief excise taxes. It also would eliminate city relief authorities.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, chairman of the welfare financing study committee, said it probably will meet again next Friday. Friday's meeting was cut short by the tragic news from Dallas, but the committee hopes to have something to recommend to the legislature next month.

Cloud emphasized the two draft bills handed out Friday are merely materials from which to work.

Prosecutor, Sheriff To Return Defendant

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan and Prosecutor G. William Brokaw left today by plane for Naples, Fla., to return Kenneth Kinser, 32, of Salem, indicted by the January Grand Jury for fraud by forging a $250 check allegedly stolen from the Kannal Coal Co. near Lisbon in 1962.

Also indicted were Joseph Shields, 34, of Salem, who was sentenced June 18 to 1-20 years at the Ohio State Penitentiary, and Gail Penny, 31, of Hanoverton R.D. 1, who was given probation, all for forgery of checks from the company.

Kinser was released on bond after arrest and was bound over to the Grand Jury and then skipped. He was later located by the bonding company.

Motorist Forfeits

LISBON — Rex L. Wright, 26, of 133 High St. forfeited a $15 appearance bond early today in Mayor Dean Stockman's court on a charge of improper passing. He was cited by police.

Driver Cited After Mishap

A 24-year-old Wellsville driver was cited after his car rammed a mail box and utility pole along Campground Rd. early today, and an East Palestine motorist was charged after a Friday mishap in which a woman was hurt.

Thomas Mobley of 25th St., Wellsville, escaped injury when he lost control about two miles west of the city limits and his auto went off the left side of the road about 5:30 a.m. the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Mobley's car struck a mail box owned by James Brozka of Campground Rd., then hit a utility pole, officers said. He was charged with traveling at a speed in excess of safe road conditions.

Mrs. Grace Grimes, 71, of Columbiana was injured when two cars collided on Route 14-A about two miles east of Columbiana Friday at 5:15 p.m.

Officers said she was in a car operated by Eldon Halverstadt, 42, of Columbiana.

The patrol said a car driven by George Holloway, 56, of State Line Rd., East Palestine, headed west, rounded a curve and went left of the center line, colliding with the oncoming Halverstadt car. Holloway was charged with driving left of center.

Mrs. Grimes, who suffered a cut of the forehead and abrasions of the knee and back, was taken to Salem City Hospital. She was in "fair" condition.

Bucher Improving

LISBON — Edwin (Bud) Bucher, David Anderson High School coach, was reported improving today at South Side Hospital at Youngstown, with injuries suffered in an auto crash Nov. 15. Bucher still listed as in "serious" condition, but authorities indicated he is improving after a hip operation Thursday. John Groves, another teacher hurt in the crash which killed George Alek, was in "fair" condition.

Cairn terriers got their name from their ability to squeeze into rock piles for foxes and wildcats.

Industry PTA Board Plans Yule Program

Decorating IDEAS by Evelyn Ferscn

Don't settle for a drab, ordinary decorative scheme in your bedroom. Remember, it's the most personal room in your home. It's just as easy and inexpensive to give it charm and distinction as it is to do it in a run-of-the-mill manner. All it takes to make the difference is a little imagination.

When planning bedroom decor, or any room, for that matter, the first thing to decide upon is "style." Then choose colors that will be appropriate to that style.

The bedroom sketched above has a definite French flavor. A restful blue and off-white color scheme gives it a light, airy feeling.

Wallpaper and matching fabric have been artfully employed. Rather than using the matching fabric for draperies, as is usually the case.

In this instance it appears in the bedspread, and the wallpaper used on only one wall.

Other walls have been painted a soft blue tone picked up from the wallpaper. Draperies and ceiling are off-white.

Add a note of elegance to your rooms with wallpaper and matching fabric. See our new sample books soon.

To get the paint colors best suited to your needs borrow our "Dutch Boy Color Harmonizer Book". In this book actual carpet swatches are displayed with pages and pages of harmonizing wall paint colors. Best of all you can use it in your home and we loan it free of charge.

Ohioans Mourn President's Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans joined millions of the world over today in mourning the death of President John F. Kennedy.

State flags—at the order of Gov. James A. Rhodes—flew at half mast along with the stars and stripes. State offices and agencies were closed.

The governor and Mrs. Rhodes were scheduled to fly to Washington to join officials from other states in paying their last respects to the assassinated president.

EXPRESSIONS of shock, disbelief, sadness, and anger continued to pour in. But mostly the atmosphere was one of awestricken disbelief—as though the full impact of the tragedy was yet to come.

More than 200 persons gathered last night in downtown Columbus at a memorial service called by the local chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality.

They came, a spokesman said, "to mourn the loss of a great champion of the people." The crowd knelt in silence to pray.

The governor described the assassination as "a dastardly act which will live in infamy."

"I grieve the loss of the president. I grieve for his family and I grieve that an assassin so alien and so un-American could slay from our national supreme example as a citadel of freedom of speech and belief, some of the luster of that image," Rhodes said.

"We must ask the holy father to give this nation strength after its most terrible weakness."

Let us pray together," Rhodes added.

SPEAKER of the Ohio House Roger Cloud, R-Logan, issued this statement:

"It is tragic to the extreme—an indication of the high price that every man who serves in high public office must pay in the responsibility and risks he must take. I am sure as a person he had the sincere liking and respect of everyone."

Former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a close friend of the President and one of the first governors to openly support Kennedy in his 1960 campaign, was overwhelmed.

"The nation and world have a lesson to those who continue to feed the fires of ignorance and fanaticism, reckless of the possible destructive consequences not only in the loss of a great leader but to the country itself," DiSalle said, adding:

"Perhaps it will serve as a lesson to those who continue to feed the fires of ignorance and fanaticism, reckless of the possible destructive consequences not only in the loss of a great leader but to the country itself."

U. S. SEN. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said he was "stunned and grieved" by what happened.

"He tried sincerely to follow a course which he believed was in the best interest of the people, the security of the nation, and in the interest of world peace," Lausche said.

Ohio Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss said the assassination of the president "is a shock which saddens us all," adding that it seems unbelievable that such a crime could be committed in the United States.

State Auditor Roger W. Tracy referred to the President as "a truly great leader at a time when world tension still beclouds the path to universal peace."

Dr. Novice G. Fawcett, president of Ohio State University, issued this statement:

"Grief and sorrow pervade this campus in the wake of the news of the assassination of president John F. Kennedy."

"HIS BRILLIANT mind, dynamic leadership, and personal charm won the admiration and respect of millions of Americans."

"It should be our purpose now to honor his memory by resolving to strive ever harder to create a nation and world worthy of the American ideal for which John F. Kennedy gave his life."

Murray D. Lincoln, president of Nationwide Insurance Cos. in Columbus, said he was "indescribably shocked, and I feel a deep personal loss."

"But beyond that, our country has suffered senseless and horrible damage," Lincoln said.

Association At Pughtown Backs Chaplaincy Service

Plans were approved to support the chaplaincy program at City Hospital when the Women's Association of the Fairview Presbyterian Church of Pughtown met Thursday night in the social rooms.

A talk on the Rev. Robert M. Armstrong, a Chicago minister, was presented by Mrs. William Flurkey in her part of the program. "Journey Into Understanding," Mrs. Janice Wright conducted devotions, reading Ps. 100 and a poem, "The First Thanksgiving of All." Mrs. Paul Wern led prayer.

Reports were given by Mrs. Stewart Mayhew and Mrs. Wright. Mrs. Alice Stivison reported on the Presbyterian sessions held Oct. 23 in New Cumberland. Mrs. Louise McConnell reported on sewing projects for a mission in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The lesson study, "One People of God," was reviewed. Eleven attended.

The group will have charge of the worship Sunday morning to dedicate the thank-offering.

Mrs. Helen Doane of Newell will be guest speaker.

Next meeting is Dec. 19 at 6 p.m. in the social rooms, with a covered dinner to be served members and guests. Each is to bring a toy for a child's Christmas gift, and items for baskets for the shutins.

Man Killed By Train

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Walter Goody, about 45, was struck and killed by a Norfolk and Western Railway freight train Friday night at a depot in downtown Ironton.

Toledo Blade Makes Truce With Strikers

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Toledo Blade Co. announced today it had made a truce with the striking Toledo Newspaper Guild and had agreements with other unions of its employees so it could resume publication with Sunday's edition.

The guild, representing 400 of 900 workers on the afternoon and Sunday Blade and the Morning Times, withdrew the pickets it posted last Saturday morning, halting publication of the only daily newspapers in this metropolitan area of a half million.

The guild and management issued a joint statement Friday night which said the union—because of President Kennedy's assassination—had "resolved to subordinate its one interest to the public interest and to volunteer the services of its members in the immediate publication of Toledo's daily newspapers."

Many workers returned to the plant early Friday night, but hope for an edition this morning evaporated when the pressmen's union went into a membership meeting that lasted more than two hours. There followed a two-hour meeting between management and representatives of the Pressmen, Paper Handlers and Stereotypers Union, which ended at 1 a.m.

Brush Creek Grange Has Officer Induction

HAMMONDSVILLE — Robert Lawrence was installed as master for a third term when Brush Creek Grange met Wednesday night in the Grange Hall, with 45 attending.

W. T. Wilson of Jewett, past deputy, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schneider of Richmond seated officers.

A turkey supper followed business. Next meeting is Dec. 4 at 8 p. m. in the Grange Hall.

Colleges Call Off Games In Mourning For President

Many Postponed, Some Canceled

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the country's major college football games—including the tradition-bound Harvard-Yale clash—were canceled or postponed today as the nation mourned the death of President Kennedy.

Of the games that were played, which included the bowl-deciding Oklahoma at Nebraska and Illinois at Michigan State games, most scheduled halftime memorial services instead of the usual hand display.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, through executive secretary Walter Byers, left it to the colleges involved to cancel, postpone or play their games as they saw fit.

"Whereas the decision rests with your institution and your opponent, it is our view that you should plan to proceed with your contest with an appropriate, dignified opening ceremony and whatever other memorial tribute you might think appropriate at halftime," Byers said Friday.

There was a long period of confusion and conflicting reports as a number of schools first announced they would play, then later decided to cancel or postpone.

In the end, most either canceled or delayed their games for a week.

One of the first to be called off was the scheduled visit of Harvard, where Kennedy once competed as a member of the varsity swimming team, to Yale for their 80th meeting.

In a joint statement, presidents Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard and Kingman Brewster Jr. of Yale said:

"Out of respect for the memory of the late President of the United States, we have decided that athletic and social activities between Harvard and Yale universities which were scheduled for New Haven shall not take place this weekend."

Yale director of athletics DeLancey Kipphut said a decision on rescheduling the game will be made Monday. A reliable source indicated it probably will be played next Saturday.

The game was one of three scheduled for regional television coverage. All were postponed. The others were Clemson at South Carolina and Wisconsin at Minnesota.

There was some speculation that the traditional Army-Navy game at Philadelphia Nov. 30 also may be cancelled. An Army spokesman said the decision would not be reached until next week.

All major Saturday games in the East were either postponed or cancelled. All Big Six games on the West Coast, which could have decided the host team for the Rose Bowl, were postponed for a week.

Oklahoma's visit to Nebraska, which will decide the host team in the Orange Bowl, was the only Big Eight game that wasn't postponed. Two of the four Big Ten games were postponed. Two of three Southwest Conference games were postponed. Three Atlantic Coast Conference games were postponed.

All the Southeastern Conference games were to go on as scheduled. Those included the visit of Florida State to Auburn, ranked ninth nationally, Tennessee at Kentucky, Tulane at Louisiana State and Florida at Miami.

Oklahoma, ranked sixth in the nation on a 7-1 record, and No. 10 Nebraska at 8-1, played for the host spot in the Orange Bowl in their game at Lincoln, Neb. Michigan State and Illinois, each at 6-1-1 and ranked fourth and eighth, respectively, competed for the visiting role in the Rose Bowl.

The only other nationally ranked team scheduled to play, No. 5 Pitt, postponed its game with Penn State until Dec. 7. Texas, Navy, Mississippi and Alabama were not scheduled.

North Carolina State gained at least a share of the ACC title with a 42-0 romp over Wake Forest Friday night. North Carolina and Duke, who have a chance to tie, rescheduled their game a week from now.

The other games still scheduled included Texas Tech at Arkansas, New Mexico at Arizona, Idaho at Arizona State, Utah at Utah State, Colorado State U. at Brigham Young, Xavier, Ohio, at Bowling Green, Miami, Ohio, at Cincinnati, George Washington at Vanderbilt, Detroit at Toledo, Iowa State at Drake, and Ohio State at Michigan.

INDUSTRIALIST William Clay Ford, an avid pro football fan and one of the three brothers who inherited the vast Ford Motor Co. empire, is expected to become the sole owner of the Detroit Lions. Ford's offer to buy the club for $6 million—the largest single offer for a sports franchise in history—is figured to be accepted by the stockholders. (UPI Telephoto)

Sports World Mourns Death Of President

By The Associated Press
The sports world went into mourning for President Kennedy Friday by cancelling and postponing hundreds of events in every type of competition.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick summed up sports' reaction to the assassination of the young, sports-minded President when he said:

"We all feel a deep loss and at the same time a great sense of shame and unhappiness that this should happen in our country. We are all shocked and in sorrow."

"Shocked," was the word used by Pete Rozelle, Commissioner of the National Football League, and repeated everywhere in sports.

The Yale-Harvard game, which was to be played for the 80th time since 1875 was postponed or maybe canceled.

In a joint statement issued at New Haven, the presidents of the two universities, Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard, and Kingman Brewster Jr., of Yale said:

"Out of respect for the memory of the late President of the United States, we have decided that the athletic and social activities involving Harvard and Yale Universities which were scheduled shall not take place this weekend."

General Douglas MacArthur sent following telegram to Mrs. Kennedy:

"I realize the utter futility of words at such a time but the world of civilization shares the poignancy of this monumental tragedy. As a former comrade in arms, his death kills something within me."

Gen. MacArthur was appointed by President Kennedy to arbitrate the dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association so that the United States could put the best possible team in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo. MacArthur succeeded by forcing the two organizations to call a truce until after the Olympics.

Lynch And Webb May Not Play For Giants Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Lynch and Allan Webb of the New York Giants defensive backfield are doubtful starters and fullback Alex Webster is out of Sunday's important National Football League game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Loss of two key men in the vital pass defense umbrella could be costly to the Giants, who must contain Charley Johnson's aerial barrage.

Leading the Eastern Conference of the NFL by one game with St. Louis and Cleveland tied for second, the Giants will have another sellout crowd of 62,000 plus at Yankee Stadium.

Lynch, knocked out in last Sunday's game with San Francisco, suffered a concussion and still is a bit woozy. His place probably will be taken by Dick Pesonen, who gets the job of playing Sonny Randle. Webb still is not at top speed due to a leg injury. Eddie Dove probably will replace him. Webster's job goes to Joe Morrison, who played there last week.

Kiwanis Preview Attracts 6 Teams

The area basketball preview slated for Monday night at Wellsville has been postponed until Tuesday night. Six teams will participate. It is being sponsored by the Wellsville Kiwanis Club.

The first tipoff is scheduled for 7:30 when Wellsville will take the floor against Steubenville Central. Southern Local and Steubenville Central are pitted in the second game at 7:45.

Beaver Local and Southern Local will meet at 8 p.m. while Toronto contests the Beavers at 8:15. The 8:30 tilt finds Toronto meeting Jefferson Union and the finale at 8:45 sends Jefferson Union against the host Wellsville five.

Each school will play two eight-minute quarters. All tickets will be general admission with $1 for adults and 35 cents for students.

The Kiwanis Club will feed all players, coaches, cheerleaders and managers in the school cafeteria following the preview.

NFL Plans Full Slate Of Games For Sunday

By The Associated Press
The National Football League planned today to go ahead with its full slate of seven Sunday games while the American League postponed its weekend schedule following the assassination of President Kennedy.

The AFL announced Friday night that the four games scheduled Sunday had been postponed. A league spokesman said they would be rescheduled later.

Television on all pro games was canceled by the networks. The American League first announced that only the visit of Buffalo to Boston, the President's home town, would be postponed. Later the league postponed the others, Kansas City at New York, Oakland at Denver and Houston at San Diego.

Earlier, the two television networks had announced they would not telecast any Sunday games. ABC handles the AFL and CBS telecasts the NFL games.

Key NFL clashes include Chicago at Pittsburgh and St. Louis at New York in the East.

Chicago leads the West at 9-1 in Pittsburgh, faces the last major obstacle on its way to the conference title. The rest of the teams on the Bear schedule have losing records.

Pittsburgh, at 6-3-1, is still in contention in the East, but must keep on winning to remain in the running.

New York, winner of five straight, leads the East with an 8-2 mark. St. Louis is tied with Cleveland for second, each at 7-3. The Giants beat the Cards 38-21 earlier in the season and are favored to do it again despite injuries to the defensive backfield.

Cleveland, loser of three of its last four and now 7-3, will try to keep pace with a home game against Dallas, 3-7.

In the others, San Francisco, 2-8, plays Green Bay, second in the West at 8-2, in Milwaukee; Baltimore, 5-5, is at Los Angeles, 3-7; Detroit, 4-6, at Minnesota, 3-7; and Washington, 2-8, at Philadelphia, 2-7-1.

'Very Green' Taylor Admits

Success Of Bucks' Cage Season Rests On Bradds

By HAL PARIS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State, which has dominated Big Ten basketball the last four years, may find the road to a fifth straight championship a bit bumpy.

The Buckeyes embark on a gruelling 24-game campaign Nov. 30 that's fraught with obstacles.

By Coach Fred Taylor's own admission, the Bucks are inexperienced and lack a balanced scoring punch.

Last year, with the fabulous Jerry Lucas-John Havlicek era nothing more than a fond memory, Taylor's cage empire was expected to crumble.

But the likeable Buckeye coach guided Ohio to a 20-4 record and a share of the Big Ten title with Illinois.

Returning from that fine squad is Gary Bradds, the 6-foot-8 All-America who paced the Buckeyes in just about every department.

Gone, however, are three other regulars and a key reserve. Graduation claimed forward leader Dick Reasbeck, a clever ball handler and fine outside shot, and steady Doug McDonald.

The academic ax fell on rugged Jim Doughty, who pulled down 209 rebounds and scored 222 points. Dick Taylor, one of state's best defensive performers, dropped out of school.

"Sure we've got Bradds but we're very green," Taylor claims.

The roster seems to bear out his contention.

Taylor has an outstanding floor leader in junior Dick Ricketts, an excellent playmaker and deft ball handler. The 6-1 Ricketts, from Belle Center, averaged only 9.4 points a game last year but has a good outside shot.

At this moment, Taylor plans to go with Tom Bowman of Columbus at the other guard post and Don DeVoe and Don Flatt at the forward spots.

Bowman, a junior, has tremendous speed, quick moves and is a good jumper. Flatt, a senior from Brooklyn, N.Y., and DeVoe, a senior from Port William, are scrappers who give 100 per cent.

"Flatt is probably our best defensive forward and DeVoe is going to surprise a lot of people," Taylor says.

But out of a possible 965 minutes last season, DeVoe only played 186, Bowman 149 and Flatt 68. This compares to Bradds' 911 minutes and 685 for Ricketts.

Bradds, of course, is the Buckeyes' big offensive gun. The Jamestown senior averaged 28 a game on 672 points last year and snared 312 rebounds. He also fired a gaudy .52 per cent from the floor.

Taylor calls 6-8 junior Jim

Shaffer and 6-4 senior Leroy Frazier his backup men and expects considerable help from two sophs—6-4 Al Peters of New Lebanon and 6-5 Andy Ahjivych of Sugar Creek.

Others on the squad are Dick Renick, London; Bob Dove, Canfield; Marv Gregory, Wilmington; Jim Brown, Martins Ferry; Carter Castlow, New Martinsville, West Virginia; Joe Haynes, Cincinnati, and Bill Halley, Columbus.

Taylor points a finger at Michigan as the team to beat for the Big Ten title. And he thinks Minnesota and Northwestern will be up there.

"I'd like to think we're going to be a factor. But remember, we've lost more than any of the others," Taylor emphasized.

Here is Ohio State's 1963-64 basketball schedule:

Nov. 30—Davis of Calif.; Dec. 2—Butler; Dec. 6-7—At West Virginia Invitational; Dec. 11—Davidson; Dec. 13—Missouri; Dec. 21—Wichita; Dec. 23—Houston; Dec. 28—At Utah State; Dec. 31—At St. Louis; Jan. 4—at Wisconsin; Jan. 11—Minnesota; Jan. 18—at Michigan; Jan. 25—Purdue; Jan. 27—at Michigan State; Feb. 3—Michigan; Feb. 8—At Indiana; Feb. 10—Illinois; Feb. 15—Wisconsin; Feb. 17—at Iowa; Feb. 22—at Northwestern; Feb. 29—Indiana; March 2—at Illinois; March 5—Michigan State.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United Football League has canceled its three games for Sunday.	The South Side - Wabash basketball game scheduled Friday night at Washington University was postponed.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS
Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, Auditor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, at his office in the City Hall, the address and telephone number of which are, respectively, 126 West Sixth Street, East Liverpool, Ohio, phone No. 383-4224, until 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 16th day of December, 1963, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of the bonds authorized by ordinances passed September 16, 1963. Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bids for 1964 City of East Liverpool Bonds (Three Issues)."

1. $29,500 Service Department Bonds, issued for the purpose of purchasing land and equipment for the Department of Public Service, in the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 of the denomination of $1,500, maturing $4,500 on December 1, 1965 and $5,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1967 to 1970, inclusive.

2. $31,000 Fire Department Bonds, issued for the purpose of purchasing a 1,000 gallon pumper for the Department of Public Service, in the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 of the denomination of $1,500, maturing $2,500 on December 1, 1965, and $3,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1967 to 1970, inclusive.

3. $11,250 Street Resurfacing Bonds, issued for the purpose of reconstructing certain streets of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, by application of bituminous surface treatment, in the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 of the denomination of $1,500, maturing $2,250 on December 1, 1965, and $3,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1967 to 1970, inclusive.

The bonds of all of said issues shall be dated October 1, 1963, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first day of June and December of each year, at the rate of 3 1/2% per annum, and are payable at the City of East Liverpool, Ohio. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of six per cent provided that where a fractional interest rate is offered, the rate shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof. All three issues are supported by limited tax levies.

Bids shall be made only for "All or None" of said bonds aggregating $71,750 in principal amount. The lowest single rate of interest must be bid for all three issues. Split rate bids on a single issue and bids at different rates for the respective issues will not be considered.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bids offering the lowest interest rate as hereinafter defined at not less than par and accurate rate will be determined by calculating the interest charges for each issue to the stated maturity date, and the rate offered and deducting from the aggregate of such charges for all issues the aggregate premium bid. The bidder shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder. The highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is determined by the lowest interest rate. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check, or certified check, payable to the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, in the amount of the bid. The bidder will receive and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. The bidder for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such check shall be held by the municipality until pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the bidder.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of the State of Ohio, and the undersigned, Auditor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder, at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the municipality, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of delivery of the bonds, and the municipality will deliver the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes or special assessments for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and the municipality will refund the bid security shall be returned with interest.

It is contemplated that the legislative authority of the municipality will meet at eight o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 16th day of December, 1963, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the purchaser or to a bank designated by the purchaser without charge. If delivered at a place outside the State of Ohio, the purchaser shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the municipality shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, non-litigation certificate, and approving opinion of the Auditor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, are ready for delivery, and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds at a time and place fixed for delivery or otherwise.

If such notice has not been given by the municipality to the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, non-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available

OFF THE RECORD

Junior Editors Quiz on FURNITURE

QUESTION: Where and when were the first chairs used?

ANSWER: Quite possibly, as our artist has suggested some comfort-loving caveman may have pushed a flat rock against a tree and had an easy chair, but we don't know definitely about this. We do know, however, that by the time of the New Kingdom in Egypt (1570-1090 B.C.), beautiful and elaborate chairs were being used. The one we illustrate is taken from a carving showing King Tutankhamun on his throne. (B) shows a slave plucking the feathers from a goose--notice that he is sitting on a stool. For a long time comfortable chairs were regarded as things for only the highest class people to use.

By Queen Elizabeth's reign in England, however, the ordinary man began to have things more his own way. Our early American settlers had plain, but comfortable furniture; and the old-fashioned rocking chair (C) was probably much more comfortable than the throne chair of most kings. No less a person than the President of the United States has paid tribute to the pleasure of sitting in it. You're all familiar with the happy ending of this story (D).

FOR YOU TO DO: The next time you are sitting plopped down in a good comfortable chair, think of the stiff ones which even the ancient kings had to put up with, and be glad you're alive in 1963.

Werner Klemstein Jr. of Comfort, Texas, wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Gradual But Perceptible

Stunned Nation To Face Changes Under Johnson

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A stunned nation faced today a gradual but perceptible change of course under its new President, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson can be expected to continue the international policies of John F. Kennedy, which he has said repeatedly have put the Communists on the defensive by giving the non-Communist world the initiative.

But domestically, a reorientation of policies and of political actions appears inevitable.

Labels always are inadequate to describe the complexities of political beliefs. But the assassinated Kennedy was basically liberal and his successor is fundamentally conservative.

This puts an entirely new complexion on the 1964 presidential contest, if Johnson is the Democratic nominee as he seems surely to become.

Instead of facing the certainty they will be opposing a Democrat who leaned toward the left and whose personal popularity seemed likely to remain high, Republicans will have the alternative of picking a candidate to contest a man whose roots reach deep in the conservative South but who has come around to espousing civil rights and almost every liberal cause.

This could be disappointing to the supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who counted heavily on their man's outspoken opposition to Kennedy's policies and Goldwater's conservative stance to win the Republican nomination for him.

It could lift the hopes of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in his self-designated underdog fight for the GOP nomination. Rockefeller could cite a long and consistent record of civil rights against Johnson's come-lately declarations for equal opportunity.

By and large, the passing of Kennedy could go a long way to remove the psychological fear of the Republicans that a President seeking a second term would be nearly unbeatable. This could result in a blossoming of other candidates such as Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who lost the presidency to Kennedy by a razor-thin margin in 1960, also could benefit, in that one objection to him was that he had lost to Kennedy once and probably would go down to defeat again.

Johnson has almost a year to build a record of his own, but he will have to stand mostly on the accomplishments of the Kennedy administration.

The new President has always been a hard driving but cautious politician. He found himself miscast in a secondary role as vice president.

Among Johnson's qualities is a kind of resignation to the inevitable and a patience to try

Dignitaries Express Grief, Shock

West Virginians Shocked Over Death Of President

By The Associated Press
West Virginians reacted Friday to the assassination of President Kennedy as did people from all over the nation, in terms of grief, disbelief and shock.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said: "President Kennedy was a giant, a good and great man. West Virginians knew him well and respected him. We believed in him. It is with the deepest personal and official grief that I express this tribute."

Gov. W. W. BARRON learned of Kennedy's assassination as he was returning to the Capitol from lunch. Press Secretary Con Hardman met the governor on the street with the shocking report.

Barron canceled his appointments and went to the mansion. The Statehouse was closed yesterday and today.

Later in the day, Barron issued a statement:

"Mr. Kennedy and I were warm friends and I am proud and appreciative to have had this relationship with him.

"The passing of this truly great American is an irreparable loss to West Virginia, as it is to our entire country and the world."

KENNEDY'S BID for the presidency was given a strong boost when he won West Virginia's Democratic presidential preferential primary over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Kennedy often said his victory in West Virginia was of considerable importance in gaining the nomination.

Other comments from prominent West Virginians:

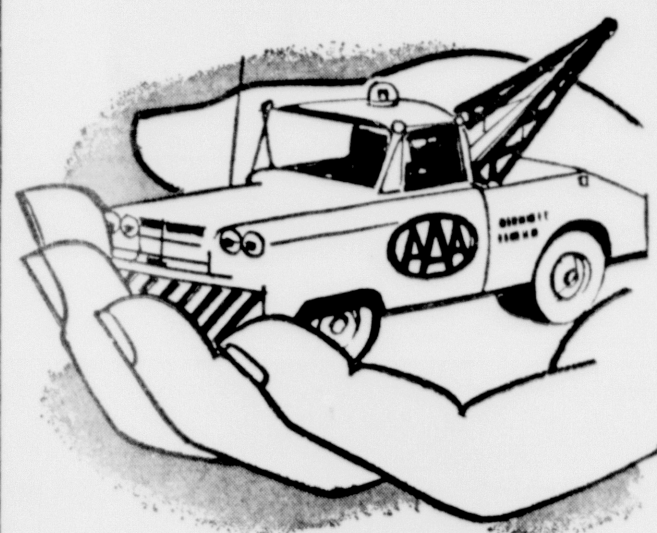

U.S. Sen. Robert C. Byrd — "He was a man of great dedication and of noble and understanding courage. His good and abiding faith in the peoples of our country and of the world will be an everlasting monument in our memories."

Former Gov. Homer A. Holt — "It is distressing. Although we know such things have occurred, it is beyond comprehension that such a thing could take place."

REP. ARCH A. MOORE Jr., West Virginia's only Republican congressman — "I certainly am in the position of all Americans at this time in trying to find words to express my feelings as to this great and deep tragedy.

"Our prayers must be for the President's family, his wife and children, and at the same time we must ask in those prayers that President Johnson be given the strength to lead this to bend events his way. Although he once said, "I don't expect to live long enough to see a man from Texas become President," he set about immediately after his election as vice president to shoot for the top job in 1968.

Now that he has inherited the office through the tragic death of his predecessor, Johnson undoubtedly will run things with a strong hand, as he ran the Senate as majority leader during the presidency of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But the presidency tempers every man who attains it, and Johnson will be no exception in recasting the administration's mold.

The resignations of all members of the Cabinet undoubtedly will reach his desk quickly — the usual procedure on the death of a President. But Johnson already has asked all of them to stay on, at least temporarily.

This invitation includes Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, even though the attorney general and Johnson have restrained enthusiasm for each other.

Robert Kennedy probably could offer the only substantial threat to Johnson's nomination in 1964, in the unlikely event Kennedy would choose to run. Most politicians think Kennedy will be content to wait until 1968. The prospect that he will be in the running then has been strengthened by his brother's death.

Industry Nurse Group Sets Fete

The Tri-State Valley Industrial Nurses Association will hold a Christmas party at the Fort Steuben Hotel in Steubenville Dec. 17.

Mrs. Rhea Nile of Wellsville is president of the group, which met for an education program at Weirton General Hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Carmel Sanatore of Titanium Metals Corp. in Toronto presented her report as delegate to the semi-annual conference of the Ohio Industrial Nurses Association in Akron Oct. 11-12.

Dr. Richard L. Wechsler, clinical assistant professor of medicine at the University of Pittsburgh's School of Medicine, spoke to 63 nurses and guests before the business meeting. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. James L. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Varner.

Area Aide Talks To Midland Club

Dominic DelVito of Pittsburgh, Rotary District governor, discussed the aims of the organization this year, including increased international service, at the meeting of the Midland club Thursday night at the New Riviera Restaurant.

DelVito was introduced by Raymond Stowitschky, president.

Following the dinner meeting, a club assembly was held with DelVito reviewing the club's report and offering suggestions.

Because of Thanksgiving, no meeting will be held next week, Stowitschky announced.

The Midland club will join with other district clubs at a combined meeting Dec. 4 at Beaver High School when the "Focal Point" radio program emphasizing the Beaver Valley will be aired.

Drastic Turnabouts Recently

Businessmen Take New Look At World Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — American businessmen are taking a new and colder look at international commerce prospects.

They speak of a drastic turnabout in the last few months.

The European Common Market, many say, has turned sour.

So has the hope that trade ties will produce a political United States of Europe to stand solid against communism.

And now the Communists are holding out their own prospects of trade, grain so far but maybe other goods later.

Businessmen questioned during a cross-country tour to sample the nation's business mood say they're not quite certain what to make of all this.

Says Robert Keith, executive vice president of the Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis: "We'll have to be on our toes if we're to come out ahead."

Keith says the United States must do all it can to revive prospects for free world trade, at the same time making the most of any Communist offers.

These comments came on the eve of meetings to lay the groundwork for a new round of international tariff negotiations made possible by the U. S. Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

They come also at a time when tariff disputes rage over several products, especially farm goods.

The mood in this country contrasts with talk a year ago, when excitement over the Common Market was high. Businessmen saw that six-nation union of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg as a beguiling market for American goods.

But early this year, France vetoed Britain's petition for entry. The other members quarreled on several issues. Levies against American poultry were raised and America readied tariff reprisals.

There's a trace of bitterness in some of the reactions heard now.

"We paid millions of taxpayers' dollars to get these countries back on their feet, and they shut the door in our face," says Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, a state big in poultry production.

President Thomas Moses of Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis said "the Common Market is just the old tariff union with a high-sounding name. They will have to be persuaded to let their tariffs down; they won't do it otherwise."

However, is the first step toward reviving trade a Dallas banker says:

"We were expecting too much. Those countries aren't going to abandon their nationalism overnight, especially not France, which has just spent seven years fighting a nationalistic war in Algeria."

President Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said: "The Common Market will eventually come into real being. I expect to see freer and freer trade."

The internationalization of commerce, both as to direct exports and to overseas plants, is the predominant trend today, he said.

Others agree that American business should continue in that direction, whether trade hits smooth sailing or rough. There was little support for a return to the high-tariff thinking of the past.

PALESTINE MAN WINS OFFICER COMMISSION

EAST PALESTINE — Kenneth R. Stump, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stump of R. D. D. 1, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force after graduation from Officers Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Lt. Stump, a graduate of Hiram College, is being reassigned to Hamilton Air Force Base in California as a supply officer.
